Introduction

Welcome to Phase Six!

Phase Six is a complete role-playing game. The rules and all associated materials are sufficient to play adventures in the world of Phase Six. You can use these rules freely, and adventure with friends. Alternatively you can create your very own world based on the eras and settings within the system.

The Phase Six system is available for download as a PDF and can be played without a digital device. However, the focus of the system is to be played over an internet platform such as Discord, Teamspeak or similar. The associated platform <https://phasesix.org> offers all kinds of tools for managing characters and campaigns. In addition you can roll any check directly on your character page and optionally display the results in your Discord chat.

What is a role-playing game?

In this case we are, of course, talking about pen and paper role-playing games, not computer games. Traditionally, a role-playing game is played with 2-4 players and a game master, with players using character sheets and dice to play.

The role-playing game always tells a story that is carried and spun on by all the players. The players create characters for a game session or campaign. The character sheet contains the description of the character, his or her origins, interests and abilities. The latter are recorded in numerical values, because action in the role-playing game requires so-called checks or rolls, which determine the outcome of an action. For example:

Tom has decided to join a role-playing group with Julia, the game leader. Julia has chosen an adventure on Earth in the year 1982. Since the story is supposed to be in the style of a retro-science fiction mystery, Julia has chosen the era "The Cold War and the 80s" as well as the "Horror Extension".

So Tom decides to create his character Jamie, a journalist with a high school degree. He chooses the character templates "Journalist" and "High School". He adds up all the values of the templates and records them on his character sheet.

Due to the chosen background, Jamie has particularly high initial values in skills such as Investigation, Communication and Politics. However, in Shooting or Acrobatics his skills are rudimentary at best.

For more information on creating a character, see the chapters Create a character and Rolls and Checks.

While each player creates a character for the game, the game master prepares a story. This is often called an adventure, plot or campaign. This story is not, as like a novel, written out to the last detail. Instead, it is a rough script consisting of a general setting, possible courses of events, the description of places and locations, as well as so-called non-player characters (NPC).

Once the game starts, everyone player acts in the role of their character. The game leader describes situations to the best of their ability and occasionally shows maps or drawings. The players speak for their characters in the first person ("I sneak up the stairs."). If the characters' actions have an uncertain outcome, checks are used and dice are rolled.

After preparing, the group around game leader Julia meets on a Discord video chat. They choose Owlbear Rodeo as the platform for a virtual game table to represent their characters there as figures with markers. (There are many more online platforms, do a search ;))

At the start of the session, Julia sets the scene.

Julia: "It is the 2nd of January 1982. You are in a pub in the tranquil town of Lindfield in the south of England. It is late in the evening, and outside a light drizzle has caused the blanket of snow from the last few days to be covered in a thin layer of ice. It's going to be cold tonight, and slippery. The pub is well filled, and you hear the song Tainted Love from a jukebox as you wait for another pint. With a creak, the front door opens and a cloud of fine rain enters the pub. Immediately followed by a figure in a far too tight plastic yellow rain jacket."

This is the prelude, and Tom decides that his character Jamie would like to have a look at the newcomer. He announces the actions for Jamie:

Tom: "I'm going to have a very close look at the stranger, I've already noticed this ill-fitting jacket."

Julia: "You notice that wet, black hair is falling from under the hood into the face of an old man. Why don't you do a perception check, to see what else is going on?"

So you see, the whole game is about a cooperative development of the story through the actions of the characters. The game leader has a plan of how the story could develop, which characters could appear and what their motivations actually are. Something is happening around the players' characters, and they are drawn into this action.

Where this story leads is uncertain. It may be that something bad is about to happen, or that a secret is uncovered. The game leader has a rough plan, but the players determine the progress.

It's all about storytelling

If you think of computer role-playing games, the strategic development of the character is the most important point. He must be able to survive future battles and have the best possible stats for possible challenges.

In pen and paper role-playing games, it is about the progress of the story, about shared experiences and memories. The best possible focus on "strong" characteristics (so-called power gaming) should not be in the foreground here. Because the story is always carried forward together, there are very flexible solutions for all challenges.

A thought on power gaming: The Phase Six rulebook deliberately does not prevent the possibility of pushing a relevant value (e.g. shooting) to astronomical heights. There should be agreement in the game group on what style of play you want to have. The rules deliberately allow these constructions in order to give you freedom in the creation of characters and adventures.

Also, the old role-playing rule comes into play here: "The word of the game master always weighs more than the rules." Of course, it should normally be the case that the rules are applied as written, because it is the framework for the players to rely on. However, if there is an unclear rule, situation or case, the ruling of the game master decides the outcome.

Combat in the role-playing game

Even if the focus in pen and paper role-playing lies less on armed confrontation, combat still plays an important role. Not every situation can be resolved peacefully. A fight can quickly break out or maybe the characters plan to rob a trader.

Combat in role-playing is treated differently from free play. Time is compressed into combat rounds, and you usually visualise the situation with a map on the (virtual) table. Players take turns, the game leader controls the NPCs. Wounds, or hit points, indicate how well the characters are still doing. You can find more details on the course of the battle in the chapter Combat.

In the game, free play and combat should be balanced. There may be adventures that consist of only one (epic) battle, but Phase Six is not a realistic battle simulation. The aim is to carry out a conflict in the most entertaining, cinematic and/or exciting way possible.

When fighting in the Phase Six system, however, the following things should always be followed due to the special features (reactions, stealing actions, etc.):

- Always use a map. A basic map of the situation ensures that there are no misunderstandings in positioning, no matter how short the fight is. A map can be a pre-made, elaborate map, but a quickly drawn floor plan works just as well. When playing online, visual aid systems such as Roll20, Owlbear Rodeo or FoundryVTT are useful.

- Always use a scale. Characters have different movement ranges. To keep track of advantages and drawbacks make sure not to mix metric and imperial systems.
- Use an initiative tracker. Initiative determines the turn order in combat and visualizes it transparent for all players. In Phase Six, it is important for the players to know when it is their turn again (not just because they lose their unused actions).

Characteristics

Phase Six has different approaches compared to other role-playing systems. In part, these were designed to achieve flexibility in the scenarios possible. The system puts a lot of focus on being easily accessible while allowing the player to perform heroic actions in combat.

Standard six-sided dice are used for rolls and checks. Dice are rolled in the number of the respective value. Rolling a 5 or higher means success. Usually, a single success enough to pass a check.

Character templates

Phase Six is not just a numbers game. Characters are not created or enhanced by allocating points to skills, attributes or other stats. Instead, character templates are used. Each one represents a small stage in the character's life.

These templates are subdivided into the life aspects: lineage, occupation, education, character, talent and environment. While the templates in the first two categories carry many traits (i.e. a healer is conscientiousness, and has first aid and medicine skills), a template from the talent section can be, for example, "Good Speaker", which only buffs the communication skill.

Character templates "bought" with reputation points, which are similar to experience points that characters receive for completing adventures.

Special actions in combat

The combat is designed to make the action as impressive as possible, but the mechanics are kept simple.

The usual turn order of players applies, but the process is a little more fluid. Players are able to use Reactions, that are built into the combat system. Every player can save one or more actions in their turn until the next round of combat. These can be used to react other players or NPC actions in their respective turns. An example:

Additionally, it is possible to spontaneously create your own actions in combat by spending bonus dice, which are obtained through templates. Or the player can even steal an action from opponents by spending a destiny die. Although destiny dice are very rare, it may be possible to steal the enemies fatal blow and turn it into the players own action.

This may sound somewhat unrealistic, but it gives the battle very dynamic options and can often lead to epic cinematic situations that even the game master cannot foresee.

Weapons

Weapons are designed to be upgradeable in Phase Six. There is a list of weapon modifications. Different ammunition is also represented as a weapon modification.

For example: the horror extension includes silver ammunition, which certainly works better against werewolves than the usual lead. Still, the modification makes sense in the Middle Ages for usage with bows. It's the modular nature of Phase Six that makes it a toolkit for any scenario you can imagine.

You can find more information about the combat rules and weapon modifications in the chapter Combat.

Eras and extensions

Phase Six is designed to be as flexible as possible. It can be used for many scenarios, whether it's fantasy, science fiction, horror or stories in the "real" world.

It offers a basic set of ready-made weapons, character templates, items and armour, which are divided into earthly eras. In addition, it is of course possible for a game group to create and use its own content.

To ensure that every scenario is possible, Phase Six distinguishes between three types of extensions.

The basic rules

Some elements are always and everywhere valid. They apply regardless of which era or extension is chosen. Many character templates such as "Conscientious", "Gun nut", "Tattletale", but also weapons and items are always available regardless of era or extension.

Era or Age

Eras or ages are earthly time periods that are the template for all scenarios (including fantasy). They provide a technological level for weapons and items and determine what is available to players. Earthly history is divided into 8 ages.

- Classical Antiquity – 800 BC–600 AD.
- Medieval Ages, Vikings and Crusades – 500–1500
- Victorian Age and the Wild West – 1700–1900
- Imperialism and World Wars – 1900–1950
- Cold War and the 80s – 1950–1990
- Modern Times – 1990 and beyond
- Near Future – a dystopian near future

- Science Fiction – a distant future

The content of the era is based on the earthly technology of the time. An adventure always takes place in one of the eras.

In addition, the contents of the eras are kept as free as possible from specifically earthly elements so that they can also be used in a fantasy world of their own. Of course, the Modern Era, has well-known modern weapons, and the two-handed sword is also an earthly invention. However, it is kept as generic as possible so that it also fits into a scenario that is not set on Earth.

Extensions

In addition to the eras, certain extensions can be chosen to add magic or the workings of gods to an adventure, for example. These extensions can be chosen at will by the game master and are optional.

- Magic – adds the magic resource "Arcana" for the characters and brings spells and artifacts.
- Horror – defines rules for dealing with horror elements, stress and quirks.
- Pantheon – provides rules for interacting with gods: invocations, prayers and grace.
- Body modifications – provides a catalog of biomechanical elements that can be integrated into the body according to specific rules.
- Vehicles and Drones – provides special rules for vehicles, vehicle combat, and vehicle attachments.

Worlds

By combining eras and extensions, any scenario can be created. A Cthulhu story in the Wild West is just as possible as a magical world in the modern age. A classic fantasy world of your own creation could make use of the Middle Ages era and the "magic" extension.

Some existing worlds combine this combination of eras and extensions, and also give you the description of an entire world. They are available as a complete template and can be used directly.

Realms of Tirakan

The world of Tirakan is a complete fantasy world that can be played at any time in a 1000-year history. An elaborate story of humans, elves, gnomes and many other peoples tells the struggle of civilisations against minotaurs, lizards and a nameless darkness.

- Era: Middle Ages

The Adventures of Division V of the NEXUS

The story of Department V of the NEXUS is set in the modern era. It is a fictional secret organisation founded to protect humanity from alien and paranormal threats. Players play agents of Department V of the NEXUS, and through the ability to time travel, experience adventures in all sorts of eras and worlds.

Your character

Each player creates a character to play a Phase Six adventure. The character is recorded on the character sheet with all relevant values.

The chapter Creating a character describes exactly how to create a new character. This section describes the basic characteristics that make up a character in Phase Six.

Persona

The Persona attributes refer to the mental characteristics of the character. Each value corresponds to a personality trait. Persona traits have their own value and are also the base for skills.

Education

Education describes the general knowledge a character has acquired. A character with a high level of education is good at all theoretical skills such as Nature or History.

Logic

Unlike Education, the value of logic relates to the ability to draw reasonable conclusions. Logic is especially important when it comes to solving problems through logical reasoning. A character with high Logic will be better at skills such as Investigation or Mechanics.

Conscientiousness

How conscientiously does the character approach tasks or activities? A low level of conscientiousness leads to carelessness, whereas a high level of conscientiousness ensures an organised and effective approach.

Willpower

Willpower refers to the character's ability to assert their own ideas and principles. A strong-willed character is good at the skills Courage and Intimidation, among others.

Apprehension

Perception describes a character's ability to perceive their surroundings and absorb information. A character with good perception is good at the skills Perception and Orientation.

Charm

A person with a high value for Charm knows how to approach other people and have a positive effect on them. This attribute is not to be confused with the physical trait of Attractiveness. A charming character is good at Politics and Empathy, among other things.

Physis

All physical attributes describe the character's physical abilities. Each attribute has a value that indicates the number of dice rolled for that attribute.

Deftness

This stat describes both the physical dexterity and the agility of the character. A deft character is, among other things, good at Performance and Stealth.

Strength

Strength is the pure strength of the character and is used whenever it is necessary to move something with pure muscle power. A character with high Strength is good at Throwing and good at Athletics.

Attractiveness

Attractiveness describes the charisma of the character. A high value does not necessarily mean beauty; a distinctive character can also be attractive.

Endurance

Stamina is the physical endurance of the character, not in the sense of patience (that is more like Conscientiousness in Persona). This stat comes into play during an endurance run or a long, strenuous activity.

Resistance

This includes the ability to withstand or avoid injury or pain, as well as resistance to disease, toxins or environmental influences such as heat or cold.

Quickness

Speed is both the speed at which the character is able to move around and the ability to react quickly to a situation.

The minimum roll

The minimum roll is a central feature of the character. It specifies the result a die must have to represent a success. The minimum roll is defined by the lineage and is 5+ for most characters. The "Masterly Presence" template lowers the minimum roll by 1, otherwise it can only be changed by special events or rare items, and often only for a short time.

Evasion

Evasion is used in combat and allows you to avoid a melee attack. It is equal to the Evasion value of the lineage plus the average of Quickness and Deftness (rounded up).* Armour and weapons reduce this stat. Character templates can change this value.

Protection

If a character has protection due to their lineage, this is called "innate protection". Unlike the other protection types, this protection does not deplete until the end of combat; it refreshes at the start of the player's combat round (see Combat).

Additional dice

Each character can have a number of bonus dice, destiny dice or rerolls. All three have different uses (see Rolls and Checks), but always represent an advantage to the character that can be used during the game.

The character can regain used dice during the rest (see Wounds and healing).

Skills

More complex actions or knowledge are described by skills. All characters have the same skills with different values, so the GM can be sure that a player can definitely roll a skill.

Each skill has a base attribute and a skill value. For example, the base attribute for the skill Intimidate is Apprehension.

The base attribute is added to the bonuses of the selected character templates.

Intimidation

The Intimidation skill is a measure of how well a character can intimidate others. This skill can be used to extract information from an opponent or to make them retreat from a fight.

Attribute: Apprehension

Empathy

Empathy is the ability to interpret a person's feelings and moods, and perhaps to recognise intentions. Thoughts cannot be read.

Attribute: Conscientiousness

Stealth

Stealth is the art of concealment. This skill is used both for stealthy movement (sneaking) and to check how secretive the character is. It can be used, for example, when the character is being interrogated or is tempted to divulge a secret.

Attribute: Conscientiousness

This skill is only available for campaigns containing magic.

Magic knowledge describes the knowledge of the character in magical topics. Whenever the knowledge of magical artifacts, spells or other teachings is involved, magic knowledge can be cast.

Attribute: Charm

Orientation

This skill is used for orientation, both in the countryside and in confusing situations. It can be used in the confusing crowds of the city, but also when the character is whirled by a water vortex.

Attribute: Apprehension

Politics

Whenever it comes to assessing political action, this skill is used.

This can be the case in real politics, but can also represent moving safely in large corporations.

Attribute: Charm

Religion

This skill includes knowledge of religious teachings, as well as confidence in performing religious ceremonies.

Attribute: Conscientiousness

Courage

This skill comes into play whenever it is a question of how brave a character is. For example, it can be used to determine whether a character is brave enough to face a powerful opponent.

Attribute: Willpower

Deception

If the character wants to deceive an opponent, or, for example, cheat at the game, this skill can be rolled on.

Attribute: Charm

Persuasion

If the character wants to convince his counterpart argumentatively, this skill is used.

Attribute: Willpower

Investigation

This skill is used when the character wants to examine an object, a certain scene or an object for certain properties.

Attribute: Apprehension

Perception

Perception represents the character's ability to perceive things in his environment. This can be the search of an house, the search for the shadowy thief at the edge of the forest, or even a movement in the face of the opponent.

Attribute: Apprehension

Acrobatics

Acrobatics is the art of moving quickly and skillfully. Unlike athleticism, this skill is used when the character climbs over a ledge or makes a short sprint.

Attribute: Deftness

Performance

Performance is the artistic presentation. This can be acting, but also the musical performance of a piece. An impressive tall tale can also be told with the help of performance.

Attribute: Charm

First Aid

First aid must be carried out with sufficient dressing materials to be successful.

If the throw is successful, the person receiving first aid recovers wounds equal to half the successes (rounded up) of the throw.

First aid stops any bleeding.

Attribute: Conscientiousness

Driving

The Driving skill describes the driving of all kinds of vehicles. The skill applies to all mobile objects such as ships, vehicles or carriages.

Attribute: Deftness

History

History describes the character's knowledge of history and past events.

Attribute: Education

Communication

The ability to socialize is described by the skill Communication. It describes how skillfully the character behaves in conversations.

Attribute: Education

Mechanics

Mechanics includes all manual activities as well as the knowledge of mechanical processes. Working on a piece of wood or understanding a mechanical clock can be mapped with this skill.

Attribute: Logic

Hand To Hand Combat

The value of this skill is the basis for attacking with melee weapons. This skill is not usually rolled on directly.

Attribute: Strength

Nature

Nature describes the character's knowledge of all facets of nature. This skill can be used when the character is searching for plants, gathering wood in the forest, or judging the nature of an animal.

Attribute: Education

Shooting

The value of this skill is the basis for attacking with ranged weapons. This skill is not usually rolled on directly.

Attribute: Deftness

Throwing

This skill is used whenever the character throws objects. These can be simple objects like stones, but also incendiary charges or nets.

If the throw fails (no single success is achieved), the deviation is determined as follows:

First, a d12 is thrown to determine the direction of the deviation. The result of the throw gives the direction in the form of the "clock time", seen by the throwing character looking at the target. A 3 thus deviates to the right of the target, as seen by the throwing character.

Then a d6 is thrown, which determines the distance of the deviation in meters.

The thrown object thus lands at the determined location.

Attribute: Strength

Spell Casting

This skill is only available for campaigns containing magic.

The value of this skill is used as a basis for casting spells. This skill is not usually rolled on directly.

Attribute: Willpower

Knowledge

Knowledge works in a similar way to skills, but the list is not predefined. Characters can have different knowledge skills based on their background, which they can use freely. Knowledge is always associated with a skill. The effective die roll value is the sum of the knowledge value and the skill value.

Knowledge is gained through character templates. The character templates indicate whether they bring this knowledge with them.

Shadows

A character can have special traits that affect them outside of their physical or mental attributes. Each shadow has its own description or rule. For example, a character may have a rival or be obedient to authority. Shadows do not have values, but can have their own rules.

Shadows are indicated on character templates. If a character template contains a written rule, it is a shadow.

Languages

The number of languages a character can learn is based on the sum of their Education and Logic attributes. These can be any languages from the character's world. If the sum of these attributes is 0 or less, the character has only a limited understanding of their native language.

The limit on the number of languages that can be learnt serves as a guideline for new characters. However, languages learned in the course of the game can exceed this limit.

Character templates, body modifications or magical items can increase the number of languages that can be learnt.

Contacts

Contacts are connections that a character has with other people or beings that they can rely on. These are typically people outside the party, such as a noble, a government contact, or a doctor.

When creating a character, they can have a certain number of contacts, based on the sum of the Charm and Attractiveness attributes. Character templates, body modifications or magical items can increase this number.

This number can be exceeded if new contacts are made during the game.

Create a character

To create a character, you select character templates that reflect their life stages, talents and interests (see Appendix Character Templates). Each template can alter the character's attributes and skills, as well as bringing knowledge and shadows. Additionally, character templates can unlock game mechanics, such as performing the actions of a priest or learning magic spells.

Career points

Career points are used to add character templates. Each template costs a certain number of career points.

New characters usually start with 20 career points. However, the game master can set this number arbitrarily.

Character templates can have negative point costs. In this case, the player receives the points when they select the template. This applies to the Drunkard template, for example.

Eras

Before the campaign or adventure begins, the game master decides which era and extensions to use. This determines which character templates, weapons, armour and items can be used, as well as whether magic, body modifications or priests' actions are possible.

The possible eras are:

- Classical antiquity
- The Middle Ages, Vikings and Crusades
- The Victorian era and the Wild West
- Imperialism and World Wars

- The Cold War and the 1980s
- Modern times
- Near future
- Science fiction

Optional extensions include:

- Magic
- Horror
- Pantheon
- Body modifications
- Vehicles and drones

Selecting templates:

A character template represents a specific stage in a character's life. Each template is assigned to one of the following categories: education, occupation, talent, interests, character or environment.

Each template alters a small number of the character's attributes and skills, either positively or negatively, and may bring with it knowledge or shadows. Additionally, templates may contain their own rules, which the character then adopts.

Each template is worth a certain number of career points. This is the number of points that must be spent to incorporate the template into the character's career.

Base values

All of a character's attributes, skills and other values start with a uniform base value. Information from the character templates is then added to these values.

- Actions: 2
- Minimum roll: 5+
- Bonus, destiny, and re-rolls: 0
- Persona and physical attributes: 1
- Skills: 0
- Innate protection: 0
- Maximum hit points: 10
- Arcana: 0
- Spell Points: 0
- Maximum Stress: 10
- Base stress: 0
- Biostrain: 0

Lineage

First, select the lineage template that best describes your character's origin. Different lineages offer different bonuses. You can only select one lineage template, and it does not cost any career points.

The available templates are listed in the Appendix Character Templates.

The chosen lineage is noted in the career and the specified modifications are added to the character's values.

Additional templates

You can now select as many additional templates as you wish until you have used up all your career points. You can combine templates from all categories. This means that your character can have one or more occupations, or none at all.

The modifications specified for each template are added to the character's values. In addition, the knowledge, shadows and other rules of the template are added to the character sheet.

All values can also become negative (see Rolls and Checks).

Remaining career points

Once the player is satisfied with the template, they can declare the character finished. Any remaining career points that have not been spent will be added to the character's reputation (see Advancement). This means that no points are lost.

Contacts and languages

Once the character templates have been finalised, the character's languages and contacts can be determined.

Contacts

Contacts are acquaintances or connections that the character had before the start of the campaign. They are recorded with their names and descriptions, and can be imagined as desired.

The number of contacts a new character can have is determined by the sum of the attributes Charm and Attractiveness.

Contacts are recorded on the character sheet.

Languages

A new character can learn a certain number of languages based on the sum of their Education and Logic attributes. These can be any languages. If the sum of these attributes is 0 or less, the character has only a limited command of their native language.

Languages are recorded on the character sheet.

Equipment

Once the character's stats have been determined using the templates, the character can be equipped with gear. The game master sets a starting capital for the characters for the campaign or adventure.

The starting capital is usually 2,000 units of the standard currency, for example, euros.

This starting capital can be used to purchase equipment such as weapons, armor, and items. For more details, see the equipment chapter.

Equipment

Weapons, Armor and Items can now be purchased with your starting capital. Any purchased items can be noted on the character sheet with their values, and the price can be deducted from your starting capital.

Assets

Any starting capital not spent on weapons, armor, and similar items becomes the character's assets.

Spells

If the magic extension is used in the adventure or campaign, the character can also learn spells.

Character templates offer spell points and allow the character to learn spells of a certain origin.

If the character has obtained both through the choice of character templates, they can use the spell points to choose spells that they have mastered.

Spells are acquired in a similar way to templates for points. Spell points are used for this purpose. Each spell has a specific cost for which it can be added to the character sheet (see Appendix Spells). Only spells of origins that the character has unlocked through character templates can be selected. More details can be found in the chapter Magic.

Body Modifications

When playing with the Body Modifications extension, body modifications can be purchased and installed for the starting capital.

The rules for body modifications must be taken into account here; for example, sufficient energy must be available for the consumers.

The process of integration by a doctor is not necessary when creating a character; body modifications can simply be noted on the character sheet.

Rolls and Checks

Whenever a character performs an action with an uncertain outcome, dice are rolled for a suitable value, which is usually determined by the game master. The outcome of the roll indicates whether and how well the action succeeded. This is called a roll or check.

All dice are rolled using six-sided dice. The number of dice is determined by the character's value in that attribute, plus any bonus or destiny dice.

A check is therefore a roll with a number of dice, where a minimum roll must be achieved, which can be modified by a level of difficulty. The elements are explained in more detail below.

This type of check is used everywhere outside of combat. In combat, there are special rules for determining hits and injuries.

The number of dice

The required or desired skill directly determines the number of dice with its value. A character with an Intimidate skill of 4 has 4 six-sided dice available for this check.

Knowledge skills have a value that determines the number of dice rolled. However, an associated skill is also given, and its value is added to the knowledge value. For example, a character with the skill 'Communication' 2 and the knowledge 'Etiquette (Communication)' 3 has 5 'Etiquette' dice.

If the value is 0 or negative, the character cannot make the check without further help, he is simply too bad at this skill. However, bonus dice or destiny dice can be used even if the value is negative.

The minimum roll

The minimum roll for a character is 5+. This can be altered by lineage, additional character templates or special circumstances.

Hagen's player wants to use brute force to break down a door that stands between him and a suspected gang of thieves. The GM asks him to roll for strength.

Hagen has a value of 4, so he rolls 4 dice. Any die that comes up 5 or higher is a success. However, Hagen's player rolls 4 successes and immediately kicks the door in the first thief's face.

The minimum roll is in the form of "X+" to indicate that this is the minimum roll that must be achieved.

Levels of difficulty

The GM can modify the minimum roll for particularly easy or difficult checks. For hard checks, the modifier can be specified as a roll +, for easy checks as a roll -.

A +3 test means that the minimum roll is increased by 3, so usually 8+. This is where the fact that all dice are rolled further comes into play, i.e. they are exploding dice.

The usual difficulty levels are:

- -2: very easy

- 1: easy
- 6: normal
- 11: difficult
- 13: very difficult
- 16: extremely difficult
- 21: impossible

There are two locks to pick, a simple padlock and a complex cylinder lock. Hagen has a picking skill of 3. The GM requires a -1 check for the padlock and a +6 check for the cylinder lock.

Hagen rolls 3 dice on 4+ for the padlock and 3 dice on 11+ for the cylinder lock.

Exploding Dice

In Phase Six, it is possible for the minimum rolls to be higher than 6+, sometimes significantly higher. The exploding dice rule applies to any roll.

Dice that result in a 6 after being rolled may be rolled again. The results are then added together. For example, a 9+ roll can be made by rolling a 6 and then at least a 3. A 14+ roll can only be made by rolling a 6, then another 6 and then at least a 2.

As no distinction is made between the individual dice in a roll of multiple dice, all sixes can be re-rolled at the same time if this is necessary to achieve a high minimum roll.

Hagen's GM requires him to roll a +9 Courage check, as he is fighting alone against the band of robbers. He must therefore roll a 14 on at least one of his Courage roll dice. Fortunately, he has a Courage rating of 5, so he has 5 dice to roll.

On the first roll, he rolls 4,2,6,6,1, giving him two sixes, which he can keep rolling to try to get to 14. The second roll (with the two dice) shows a 6 and a 1.

Now he can only re-roll the remaining die, which shows a 6. Since the second roll shows a 1, even the strong courage does not help, and Hagen only gets a 13.

Critical successes

Similar to critical hits in combat, other rolls can result in critical successes. If a die shows a result of at least 11, this is a critical success. This is the equivalent of rolling another exploding die, which will again give a result of 5+. Changes to the character's minimum roll are not applied here.

Critical successes result in an additional success each time a 5+ is rolled. This results in the following limits for additional successes.

- Roll 5+: normal success
- Roll 11+: critical success – results in one additional success
- Roll 17+: megacritical success – results in two additional successes
- Roll 23+: megacritical success – gives three additional successes
- Roll 29+: megacritical success – gives four additional successes
- etc.

Bonus dice

A character can have a certain number of bonus dice. These are determined by the templates (see Create a Character). Any number of bonus dice can be added to the dice of a roll. This can be done even if the actual roll has already failed. In this way, you can sacrifice one bonus die after another in order to achieve a success.

In this way, a check can be made when the number of dice is 0 or less.

The bonus dice are refreshed to their maximum at each rest.

Rerolls

A complete roll can be re-rolled for each re-roll. It is not possible to pass a roll with a value of 0 or less.

Rerolls also refresh to their maximum at each rest.

Destiny dice

Destiny dice are usually given to the character as part of their career, but the GM can also award individual destiny dice for special actions or on special occasions.

Destiny dice can be used as bonus dice as well as for re-rolling. A result of 4+ on a destiny die is always a success, regardless of the difficulty of the check. If the destiny die is used as a reroll, this applies to all dice rolled in that check.

The Destiny dice must always be rolled separately from the normal dice to see if they have rolled a 4+.

Looking at the previous example of Hagen's Courage roll (5 dice on 14+), a Fate roll would help him a lot here, as he would only need to roll a 4+.

Destiny dice refresh to their maximum at every rest.

Group rolls

Whenever the group as a whole needs to pass a check, group rolls are used. For example, instead of asking each player to make an Apprehension check, the GM can ask the whole group to make an Apprehension check. If the check is successful, the effect applies to all characters in the group.

A successful group roll always requires a certain number of successes. The GM decides how many successes are required for a group roll to be successful. Each player then rolls for the required attribute or skill.

All the successes of the characters are added up. If the required number of successes is reached, the check is successful.

In the case of a party roll, each party can use bonus, destiny, and reroll dice as usual. It is also possible to modify the minimum roll based on the severity of the check.

In a group roll, each participant can use Bonus and Destiny dice and Re-rolls as normal. It is also possible to change the minimum roll according to the difficulty of the check.

Concealment

A special roll is the Concealment Roll. This is used when a person is observing a character and is looking for certain conspicuous items of equipment. Each piece of equipment has a concealment value. The higher the value, the more noticeable the item will be.

If a person is observing a character or the whole group, the item with the highest concealment value is used for the concealment roll.

The person observing now rolls a number of dice equal to their Perception value plus the determined Concealment value. If successful, the observer can spot a conspicuous object.

Combat

When it comes to combat, the game progresses in rounds.

Start of combat

As soon as a conflict arises, time freezes and the group determines the order in which the combatants act.

Initiative

Each player rolls d6 according to the quickness value. The exploding dice rule applies here as well. The dice results are added up. The competitor with the highest score starts the fight, the others follow in the order of their results.

A rogue with quickness 4 rolls on her speed and gets 4, 5, 1 and 17. Her result is 27.

If two combatants have the same result, the Quickness value decides first, and if this is also the same, the Deftness value.

Quick Reaction

Before the combat begins, each participant performs a apprehension check. This check symbolises the character's ability to react quickly to new threats. If successful, the competitor receives a "Quick Reaction", which allows them to react before their first round of combat begins. This Quick Reaction counts as a normal action (see below), but can only be used for reactions.

If this check fails, the participant does not receive their actions until the start of the first round of combat, and cannot act before then.

Once it is the player's turn, their actions are refreshed and the Quick Reaction expires.

Sequence of rounds

The combat is divided into combat rounds. These have the following order:

- Start of round
- The "Player Combat Round" is conducted for each participant in order of initiative.
 - Start of the Player Combat Round
 - The player's actions are refreshed
 - The player performs their actions
 - End of player combat round
- End of round

The participant may perform an action for each of his available actions (see Actors and Actions) or save the action for a reaction in his opponent's turn (see Reactions).

Once the last participant has acted, the next combat round begins with the first participant.

Both "Start of Round" and "End of Round" are phases in which reactions can be made. To do this, players must save actions and perceive the last actor directly. Some effects, such as spells, can also be carried out during these phases.

Actor and actions

When it is a participant's turn, they are the actor. The actor is the participant who is actively acting and can use or withhold their actions as they wish.

At the start of the player combat round, the player's Actions are refreshed. The number of actions a character has is determined by their character templates. The base value for every character is 2.

"Refresh" therefore means that all actions are available again. If the participant has already used up any actions, e.g. by actions taken in the previous round, the available actions will be reset to the maximum.

Once the actions are refreshed, the participant can act in combat. To do this, he performs actions one after another, each act taking a certain number of actions. Actions can be, among others, the following:

- To attack with a weapon
- Parry with a weapon or object.
- Reload a weapon
- Use an object
- Evade a melee attack.
- Aim with a melee weapon or when firing a single shot.
- Perform any action (see below)
- Hunker or lay on the ground (The "Hunkered" status effect is active, see Wounds and Healing).
- Stand Up
- Walk Quickness + 1 meter (while performing another action without consuming an action, but the minimum roll is increased by 1).
- Run Quickness + 5 meters
- Rob Quickness / 2 + 1 meters (rounded up), the character must be Hunkered. (see Wounds and Healing: Conditions of the character)

Actions should not be performed together, but always one after the other, because of possible reactions.

Arbitrary actions

A character can also perform any action that is not on the list. In this case, the GM must decide whether the action requires one or more actions. An action that is not on the list should normally require one action. This could be anything, such as lighting a pipe, smashing two opponents' heads together, or throwing an object. The GM decides which roll is required.

Reactions

When an actor acts in combat, all participants who directly perceive the actor may react to that action.

The following conditions must be met in order to respond to an action:

- The reacting participant must directly perceive the actor, i.e. he must hear, see or otherwise take note of his action.
- The reacting participant still has unused actions.

The reaction is announced and carried out immediately after the actor's action. However, it takes place in the game time before the action. An action can only be followed by one reaction from a participant. Any number of players can react to the actor if they recognise his action. In practice, this means that the reacting player announces his reaction after the actor has performed his action and possibly rolled the dice. This may vary from situation to situation.

If more than one player reacts to an action, the order of reaction is determined by initiative. The player with the highest initiative reacts first, followed by the other players in descending order of initiative.

Each reaction reduces the available actions of the reacting participant by one.

Hagen is involved in a fight with a robber. Hagen has attacked in his combat round, but has saved an action to be able to react. The robber's combat round begins. The robber attacks. The GM rolls four dice and scores three hits. Hagen's player decides that Hagen should react with a Shield Parry. He announces his reaction to the robber's attack after the GM has made the attack. He can do this because he still has one action left and is directly aware of his opponent's attack. The reaction now takes place in the game before the robber's attack. The shield parry rule gives Hagen a cover roll of 5+ for his round shield. He rolls for each of the robber's three hits. He rolls a 5 twice, preventing two hits. The third hit hits him.

Bonus dice actions

Bonus and destiny dice can be used in combat to gain or steal actions.

To gain an additional action, a bonus die can be subtracted. The additional action is available immediately, even for a reaction.

If a destiny die is spent, an action can be stolen from an opponent. This is no longer available to the opponent in his current (or next, if it is not his turn) turn. The participant who spent the destiny die has the action immediately available, even as a reaction.

Spending dice for actions does not itself take an action.

Sequence of an attack

Attacks with weapons are handled exactly the same in melee and ranged combat. The only difference is that attacks with melee weapons are thrown at the Hand to Hand combat skill, attacks with firearms are thrown at the Shooting skill, and attacks with throwing weapons are thrown at the Throwing skill.

An attack has the following phases:

- The Hit Roll determines how many hits a character achieves in an attack with a weapon. Here, the dice are rolled on the respective weapon skill, and a distinction is made between critical hits and hits. The *Cover roll is available to the attacked character if he has cover. Here it is possible to avert damage even before the hits hit the armor. Shields can provide cover.
- Converting hits into wounds taking into account protection, penetration and critical hits.

The hit roll

To make an attack, a roll of a certain number of dice is made. The minimum roll of this roll is equal to the minimum roll of the character.

Here, a possible recoil penalty must be taken into account if the character has already fired in the same combat round.

The number of dice is initially equal to the character's respective skill value (shooting, hand to hand combat, throwing) plus the damage potential of the weapon.

The hit roll can also be modified by other circumstances. Different firing modes and firing at the wrong distance may cause the available dice to change.

Each success causes a hit to the target of the attack. How the target can prevent damage is described under Wounds and Pierce and Cover.

Recoil

Automatic weapons usually cause recoil when attacking, which makes it difficult to re-aim at a target in a directly following attack.

If an attack with a firearm is followed directly by another attack from the same character within a combat round, the minimum roll and the critical hit threshold are increased by 2. This malus increases for each subsequent attack in the same combat round. Thus, a third attack has a +4 malus on the minimum roll and critical hit threshold.

The recoil can be prevented if, for example, another action is inserted between two attacks in a combat round. For example, recoil does not apply with bows because a new arrow must be placed on the string between attacks.

Weapons can have a recoil compensation. This value lowers the malus per attack. Thus, the minimum roll for a subsequent attack with a weapon with recoil compensation 1 is only raised by 1. A recoil compensation of 2 ensures that recoil is no longer relevant for the weapon.

Recoil is not accounted for across combat rounds, only within a combat round.

Critical hits

Hits caused during the hit roll become critical hits if they reach the value 11 during the roll. This is equivalent to an exploding die "thrown farther", which then shows a result of 5+ again. Changes to the character's minimum throw are not applied here.

Critical hits can only be caused by melee attacks, single shot attacks, and throwing weapons, never by burst attacks.

If critical hits are achieved when attacking, they are announced separately from normal hits. A single shot from a bow could thus result in "2 crits, 3 normal hits".

Critical hits are treated as normal hits, but will always penetrate normal armour. Only armour of the type 'protection against critical hits' can protect against critical hits, all other types of armour protection cannot prevent critical hits.

If a cover roll occurs, critical hits must be treated separately from normal hits. So the attacked person rolls twice on his cover, once for the number of critical hits, and once for the number of normal hits.

The mercenary Maragas rolls 4, 5, 5 and 14, giving him 2 normal hits and a critical hit. The critical hit penetrates the armour, the normal hits are reduced by the protection of the person attacked.

Megacritical hits

If critical hits occur, the exploding dice can be rolled further than 11. The roll continues until no 6 is reached on the respective die.

If a die reaches a 5 again after the second roll, it is a megacritical hit. These hits are treated as critical hits, but cause an additional wound if not prevented.

For each roll of a 5+, the number of wounds is increased. So one megacritical hit can cause a lot of wounds. The rule of 5+ results in the following limits for wounds:

- Roll 5+: normal hit.
- Roll 11+: critical hit – ignores armor
- Roll 17+: megacritical hit – ignores armor, +1 wound
- Roll 23+: megacritical hit – ignores armor, +2 wounds
- Roll 29+: megacritical hit – ignores armor, +3 wounds

And so on.

Aiming

With melee weapons and single shot, it is possible to aim the weapon. This is not possible in burst mode.

The character can invest actions to aim at his target more precisely. For every 1 action, the critical hit limit is reduced by 2 for the next attack. This bonus to critical hits may not exceed the character's perception value.

If the aiming character is hit while aiming, the accumulated aiming bonus is removed.

Attack modes

The attack modes with which the bearer of the weapon can use it are indicated with each weapon. The player chooses arbitrarily from the available modes for each attack. Switching the fire mode on modern weapons requires no action.

Hand-to-hand combat

All melee weapons have this attack mode exclusively. The character strikes with the weapon in hand-to-hand combat.

- The attack can be parried.
- The attack can be dodged.
- The attack can cause critical hits.
- For the attack, the character can aim beforehand.

Single shot

One shot is fired per action. This applies to many modern weapons, but also to bows, slingshots and crossbows.

- The attack consumes 1 ammunition.
- The attack cannot be *parried
- The attack cannot be dodged.
- The attack can cause critical hits.
- The character can aim for the attack beforehand.

Burst

The weapon is used in burst mode, a short burst of fire is delivered, which is slightly less accurate than a single shot.

- 2 dice are added to the attack roll.

- The attack consumes 3 ammunition.
- The attack cannot be *parried
- The attack cannot be *dodged
- The attack cannot cause critical hits.
- For the attack, the character cannot aim.

Incorrect distance

Each weapon has a specified distance at which it is effective. If the target's distance differs from that specified with the weapon, there is a penalty to the hit rolls.

If the real shooting distance is less than the specified distance of the weapon, the attack is performed normally. If the distance is increased up to the double of the weapon, the minimum roll of the hit roll is increased by 2.

If the target's distance is more than twice the weapon's range away, it is not possible to shoot or attack at the target.

Cover

If parts of the person being attacked are hidden from the attacker's view, the rule of cover applies. It depends on how much the attacked is hidden. The cover is classified into 3 levels:

- 4+ Cover: Most of the person being attacked is hidden.
- 5+ cover: The target is half hidden
- 6+ Cover: It is a bit harder to hit the target behind light cover. This effect is achieved among other things by the "hunkered" condition.

If the attacked has at least 6+ cover, he is allowed a cover roll after the hit roll. For this, he rolls as many dice as the attacker had hits. For each success (on the minimum roll according to the cover), one hit is removed.

If the attacker has scored critical hits, the Cover Roll must be made separately for critical and normal hits to determine which hits were prevented.

Shields

Shields can be used when the character wields a one-handed weapon.

Shields can be used in two different ways.

- For Shield Block, the shield is readied in its own turn with two actions. In subsequent combat rounds, the shield provides the cover listed below for all attacks against the character. While the shield block is active, the character's movement range is halved. The Shield Block is active until the character cancels it, that is, lowers the shield.
- The Shield Parry can be used spontaneously as a reaction. It provides the below cover roll for a single attack and costs one action.

Unlike other armour, shields have a special value, the cover value. This is expressed in the form X+, meaning that shields provide this amount of cover. A round shield provides 5+ cover, so after an attack, the attacked can roll 5+ for each hit to avoid it before the application of Protection and Wounds. This is possible with both Shield Parry and Shield Block.

Protection and Piercing

Any success of the hit roll which was not prevented by cover is a hit on the target of the attack. Other circumstances can also cause hits, for example an explosion can cause "3 hits with 2 wounds each". Here, hits can be prevented by cover.

When a character takes a hit, they can use protection to avoid that hit. The character has a protection pool, which is a combination of all their armour and other effects. For each unit of protection used, one hit is prevented, possibly with additional effects (see Protection Pool).

Any hit not prevented by protection becomes as many wounds as the weapon or effect specifies. If nothing is specified, a hit causes one wound.

Protection Pool

Each character has a protection pool made up of all their armour. Each piece of armour has a certain amount of protection, which is expressed in protection units. You can find more information about armour in the gear chapter.

When a character is attacked or otherwise hit, they can use protection from their protection pool to prevent these hits. Using protection does not cost an action, and you can use as many as you like.

The protection pool represents the armour a character wears in battle. During combat, the armour can shift, a strap can break, and a piece of armour can fall off. As a result, the pool gets smaller during the fight, which is represented by the amount of protection spent. After the battle, all the armour in the pool is restored.

The protection pool is only available during combat. When a character takes damage outside of combat, it is up to them and the GM to assess the potential damage reduction provided by armour.

Wounds

A wound is added directly to the wounds taken by the character. It can only be prevented if a template, equipment or other explicitly contains a rule that modifies wounds.

Weaponless melee

If the character attacks without a weapon, the player rolls hit dice equal to his hand-to-hand combat value. The minimum roll is equal to the character's minimum roll, which is usually 5+.

If the character's Strength value is higher than 2, the Melee attack has Piercing 1.

If the character's Quickness value is higher than 2, the character adds one die to the roll.

The range of an unarmed melee attack is 1 meter.

Dodge

The attacked character can dodge a melee attack as a reaction. This requires that the attacked character has an action available and can sense the attacker. Thus, an attack from behind cannot be dodged.

The value is equal to the dodge value of the character templates plus the average of speed and dexterity (rounded up). The load of armor and weapons reduces this value.

To dodge an attack, the character rolls a die to his value in Dodge. The minimum roll for this is increased by the number of hits the opponent scores. If the attacked person scores at least one success, he has completely dodged the attack.

Parry melee attacks

Melee attacks can be parried if the attacked has a suitable melee weapon ready and an action left.

To do this, you make a reaction roll as if you were attacking with a weapon. For each success on this roll, one of the attacker's hits is removed. Critical hits can only be prevented by critical successes on the parry roll.

Special Attacks

There are a number of special attacks that a character can use to refine or change their attack.

Accurate Attack

In the accurate attack, the character aims longer to land a better hit. The exchange ratio here is 1 action for reducing the minimum roll by 1. The exchange can also go over turns. The minimum roll can be reduced by a maximum of the character's Perception value, but cannot go below 2. No other action can be taken during this time. After that, a normal attack is made with the changed values.

Knockout Attack

The Knockout Attack has only the intention of knocking an opponent out, but without inflicting any damage. The attacker must wield a blunt weapon, or at least strike with a blunt object. If the attack is successful, the opponent roll a resistance check. If he does not achieve as many successes as there are hits, he is knocked out.

The attack does not inflict any wounds. Cover and armor are taken into account as usual.

Massive attack

In a massive attack, the character gathers all his strength to deliver a massive blow. For each additional action the character invests in this attack, the number of dice for this attack increases by 3, up to a maximum of the character's strength value.

Disarming attack

With a disarming attack, the attacker tries to knock the weapon out of the opponent's hand. To do this, he must succeed in an attack on the weapon's arm, with a minimum roll raised by 2. The attacked person must roll on his strength or dexterity after the attack, and achieve at least as many successes as the attacker had hits.

If the attacked fails to do so, he has been disarmed.

The disarming attack doesn't cause any wounds.

Two-handed fighting

If the character is particularly skilled in the use of a weapon, he can wield two weapons of the same type at the same time, i.e. ambidextrously. Two-handed fighting is only possible with one-handed weapons. Weapons that are wielded with both hands anyway (heavy axes, polearms, etc.) cannot be wielded in two-handed combat.

If a character wields two weapons of the same type at the same time, the character gets one more action per combat round. The weapon he wields with his secondary hand attacks with a minimum roll increased by 1.

Support weapon

If this is possible with the weapon being used (usually firearms except bows), the character can place the weapon on a suitable spot before using it. Supporting takes one action. If shooting with a supported weapon, the minimum roll is reduced by 1. It costs no action to pick up a propped weapon again.

Coup de grâce

A character can kill an opponent directly if the opponent is unconscious, sleeping, or dying. To do this, the player rolls a normal attack roll. If this roll succeeds with at least one success, the opponent receives the status dead with the level corresponding to the successes of the attack. If the opponent is already dying, the level of the state is increased by the number of wounds of the attack.

If the attack fails, a sleeping victim is likely to awaken.

Throwing objects

If an item, such as a throwing net, is thrown at a target, the character rolls to its throw value. The minimum roll is equal to the character's minimum roll, usually 5+.

If the roll results in at least one success, the character has hit his target.

Deviation

If the roll on throwing shows no success, then the roll has failed. In this case, a roll is made on the deviation.

First, a D12 is thrown to determine the direction of the deviation. The result of the throw gives the direction in the way of the "clock", seen by the throwing character looking at the target. A 3 thus deviates to the right of the target, as seen by the throwing character.

Then a D6 is thrown, which determines the distance of the deviation in meters.

The thrown object thus lands at the determined location.

Gear

An essential part of the adventurer's life is the equipment. For a new character, the starting capital can be used to buy equipment. This section describes the different types of equipment, their characteristics and their values.

Items

The simplest form of equipment are items. These can be anything that the character accumulates in their life. Tents, torches and bandages are equipment items. Animals and carts also fall under equipment. If the character acquires or obtains an item, it is simply noted on the character sheet.

Items are sorted into the following categories:

- First aid
- Vehicles
- Containers
- Curiosities
- Lights
- Musical instruments
- Pet supplies
- Trekking equipment
- Potions
- Throwables
- Tools
- Ingredients
- Surveillance

Properties

Items can have various properties relevant to the game. All items have the following properties:

- Price: this is the average purchase price of the item when it is acquired. This price is expressed in the main unit of the currency used.
- Rarity: Rarity describes how available the item is. It can be common, uncommon, rare, legendary or unique.
- Weight: the weight of the item. This is used to judge the carrying capacity of the character, although there is no rule for overloading here.
- Concealment: the concealment indicates how easy an item is to find if an observer is specifically looking for it. A higher value here represents an item that is easier to find.

An object is always assigned to one or more extensions. For example, there are items that are only available if the magic extension has been selected for the game.

Item rules

Some items have special rules that may also require a skill or attribute roll. These rules are listed with the item. For example, a bandage allows you to use your First Aid skill to heal a character.

Charges

Items can contain charges. If this is the case, a charge is removed if it is used successfully.

For example, a professional emergency kit has 5 charges.

If all charges are used up, the item can no longer be used according to its purpose until it is possibly refilled.

Weapons

Weapons are distinguished from everyday items, they have different game values and mechanics. Like items, weapons are recorded on the character sheet when they are purchased or obtained by other means.

Weapons are assigned to different types of weapons. In the game, only the difference between melee, ranged and throwing weapons is important, as the respective value (shooting, hand to hand combat, throwing) is rolled. There are the following types of weapons:

- Axes
- Blades
- Blunt Weapons
- Bows
- Polearms
- Slings
- Throwing Weapons
- Assault Rifles
- Heavy weapons
- Machine guns
- Pistols
- Rifles
- Shotguns
- Submachine guns

Different types of weapons may be available in different eras. Grenades count as items, not as weapons.

Properties

Weapons have the following properties:

- Price: as with items, this is the price for which the weapon can be purchased on average.
- Rarity: Rarity describes how available the weapon is. It can be common, uncommon, rare, legendary or unique.
- Weight: as with items, the weight of the weapon is used to give a rough idea of how much the character can carry.
- Concealment: the concealment of the weapon indicates how easy it is to detect when searching for it. A higher value means easier recognition of the weapon.
- Type: the type of the weapon indicates to which weapon class the weapon belongs.
- Damage potential: this value is indicated by a number of dice. The dice represent the potential of the weapon to do more damage and are added to the skill value on attack rolls.
- Piercing: Reduces the target's protection by the number of protection units specified. For the protection to have effect, the target must expend more protection units than the piercing of the weapon.

- Actions to ready: Weapons can take a different amount of time to ready. It usually takes one action to change or pick up a weapon. However, there are also very fast weapons that can be switched to without delay, and also very complex weapons.
- Range (metres): the range is given for all weapon types. For ranged and thrown weapons, it indicates the maximum range at which a target can be reasonably hit. Melee weapons with a range of more than one metre can be used at the indicated range, such as pole weapons.

Ranged weapons have the following additional properties:

- Capacity describes how much ammunition the weapon can hold at the same time, e.g. the magazine size in modern weapons.
- Reload actions indicates how many combat actions the character must invest to completely reload the weapon.
- Recoil compensation: a recoil penalty is applied to a shot that is immediately followed by another shot in the same combat round. The recoil compensation is subtracted from this malus, so a weapon with high recoil compensation makes directly consecutive shots easier.

Attack modes

Weapons always have at least one attack mode. These are indicated in the weapon table with the weapons. If there is more than one attack mode, the character can select it each time the weapon is used without using an action to switch. The attack modes are (see Combat):

- Single shot: can cause critical hits.
- Burst mode: gives two dice in addition to the hit roll, cannot cause critical hits.
- Hand to Hand: the weapon is used in close combat, can cause critical hits.

In additional extensions or worlds, there may also be other attack modes with special rules.

Rules

Weapons, like objects, can have special rules. These describe in detail what is to be observed when using the weapon.

In addition to formulated rules, there is also the specification of special caused conditions (see Wounds and Healing). As a rule, these are indicated with a value. This is the value that the hit adds to the corresponding condition when the weapon causes wounds. Possible conditions are:

- Bleeding X
- Poisoned X
- Shocked X

- Burning X

Weapon modifications

In addition to weapons, there is a list of weapon modifications. These allow weapons to be modified.

In the modern era, for example, it is possible to attach a sight to a weapon. But special ammunition is also represented as a weapon modification, for example, the Horror extension brings silver ammunition.

Weapon modifications are divided into the following categories:

- Blade: such as a hardened blade or a special engraving
- Ammunition: special types of ammunition, but also quivers
- Grips: leather-wrapped handles for swords and the like
- Barrel: silencers for modern weapons
- Sights: Sights for modern weapons
- Gadget: lights, tripods and the like

Usually, these weapon modifications change one or more values of the weapon. However, they can also bring their own rules.

Characters can find or acquire already modified weapons in the game, but of course they can also commission a modification.

Armour

Armour items, like weapons, are noted separately from normal items on the character sheet. Armour provides protection which can prevent wounds in combat. In addition to wearable armour, this list also includes shields that can provide cover for the character.

Armour is divided into categories:

- Clothing
- Light armour
- Medium armour
- Heavy armour
- Shield

Properties

Armour items have the following game-relevant values:

- Type: the armour type, e.g. "Light Armour".
- Price: the average purchase price of the armour
- Weight: the weight of the armour

- Concealment: how hard is the armour to spot if an observer specifically looks for it?
- Encumbrance: Heavy armour hinders the character in physical actions. Encumbrance is subtracted from the character's evasion value.

Protection

Each piece of armour has a certain amount of protection units. These are shown as shields on the armour. These shields can be used in combat to prevent hits. There are the following types of armour:

- Normal protection: This protection can be used to prevent a normal hit.
- Critical protection: This protection can prevent a critical hit or a normal hit.
- Sticky Protection: Prevents a normal hit. The weapon gets stuck in the armour and must be released to perform an action.
- Bleeding Protection: Prevents a hit and an attack from causing the Bleeding condition.
- Poison Protection: Prevents you from being hit and an attack from causing Poisoned condition.
- Fire Protection: Prevents being hit and prevents an attack from causing the Burning condition.
- Reflecting Protection: Prevents a normal hit and causes the attacker to be hit.
- Shock Protection: Prevents being hit and prevents the attack from causing Shocked condition.

The protection of all armour pieces is combined into a protection pool that can be used in combat. For more details, see Combat.

Currency

In different scenarios and worlds, there can be different currencies. Each character and campaign is assigned a currency table that specifies the different units of currency. Characters can record their wealth on the character sheet. Currency tables are e.g.

- Euro
- Dollar
- Taler
- Guilder (Realms of Tirakan)
- Yuan

Whether currency plays a role in the game is entirely up to the group and the game leader, it is optional.

Wounds and Healing

The physical integrity of the character is represented in the form of wounds. A character can withstand a certain number of wounds without passing out.

Wounds and Boosts

If you look at the character sheet of an intact character, you will see a bar of filled hearts:

These 10 hearts represent the wounds a character can take without passing out. Each source of damage causes a certain number of wounds. This can be a fixed number of wounds, as with most weapons. However, a dice formula can also be used.

Hearts are crossed out or emptied as soon as the character takes wounds. Thus, after a hit with a weapon, the life meter may evolve as follows:

These empty hearts can be filled again through healing.

Boost

The situation is different with boosts. Some items give boosts when used. Boosts are represented as different colored hearts and can also absorb wounds when crossed out.

However, with boosts, these hearts are completely removed and cannot be restored by healing. Thus, a boost is a temporary improvement in condition.

If the character takes damage, it is always crossed out from the right. First the boosts are used up, then the still complete hearts. So in the following display, the boost occurred after the wounding (the empty hearts).

Fainting and Death

A character that has neither full hearts nor boosts faints and is considered dying. The condition below describes exactly how to proceed here.

Healing

Real healing of wounds is only possible over time and with medicine. First aid and the use of bandages and other aids only generate boosts.

Using the first aid skill without aids generates a boost. With aids the number varies, this is described in the items.

The rest

If the characters come to rest for at least 6 hours, this is considered a rest.

During a rest, the character has the opportunity to heal wounds. For this purpose, the values Resistance, Endurance and Willpower are added together. Dice are rolled according to the sum, for each success the character heals one wound.

All bonus dice, destiny dice and rerolls refresh, so are set to the character's maximum.

Boost expires at rest, all existing boosts are removed upon rest.

If the magic extension is used, the character rolls on the sum of the Charm, Conscientiousness, and Willpower stats. For each success, one arcana is restored.

When using the Horror extension, it is possible to reduce stress and resolve dread.

The character's stress level is set to the minimum: either 0, or the base stress level if it is higher.

If a character is Consumed by dread, this condition is resolved. This is determined by rolling a stress test. If the roll is successful, the condition is removed. If the roll fails, the character's base stress level increases by one and they receive a quirk. In either case, the current stress level is reduced.

Conditions

A character can have different conditions. These have different effects on the character's actions, but also effects over time. The conditions are noted on the character sheet with a counter.

Some conditions have saving throws that can be used to remove them. These throws are indicated in the description of the condition. All restrictions and difficulties caused by conditions do not apply to these saving throws.

Dying

This condition is caused when the character's wounds exceed the maximum wounds, so the hearts decrease to 0. At that moment, the value of this condition is set to 1.

If a character gets the Dying condition, all other conditions are removed.

If the value of the condition is one or higher, the character rolls for his Resistance at the beginning of each round. If this roll succeeds, nothing happens. If this roll fails, the value of the condition is raised by one.

If the value of the condition reaches 6, the character dies.

Stabilizing requires successes equal to the character's "Dying" value. This can be a roll on first aid, medicine, or something similarly helpful. If enough successes are achieved, the dying condition is removed.

When a character is attacked with the Dying condition, the Dying value is increased by the number of wounds inflicted (see Combat, Coup de grâce).

Unconscious

The character is incapable of any action (his actions per turn are zero). The value of this condition indicates the depth of unconsciousness.

At the beginning of each round, the character can roll on his willpower. If the roll shows successes according to the value of this condition, the value is set to 0 and the character wakes up.

Shocked

For each roll, the character has as many dice less than the value of this condition.

At the beginning of each round, the character can roll on his Endurance. He can reduce the value of the condition by the number of successes. If the condition reaches a value of 0 in the process, it is removed.

Burning

The character's minimum roll is increased by the value of this condition for all rolls on perception and for all attacks.

This condition ends when the character is extinguished.

Bleeding

At the beginning of each round, the character rolls for Endurance. If the roll fails, the character takes one wound for each level of this condition.

This condition ends when the character is bandaged (e.g. by first aid).

Poisoned

The character's minimum roll is increased by the value of this condition for all rolls.

At the beginning of each round, the character can roll for his Resistance. He can reduce the value of this condition by the number of successes. If the condition reaches a value of 0 in the process, it is removed.

Hunkered

The character has a 6+ cover (see Combat).

All actions involving manual work (physis attributes, attacks and skills) have a +1 minimum roll.

It takes an action to hunker down or stand up.

Advancement

Over time, the character gains experience and develops further. As with character creation, this development is based on character templates.

Reputation

A character's reputation reflects their level of recognition and life experience.

Reputation is divided into spent and earned reputation, separated by a slash. Earned reputation points are placed after the slash, and used reputation points are placed before the slash. Unused reputation points can be used to purchase character templates.

Gaining reputation

The character gains reputation for successful quests. Reputation is awarded by the GM and should be between 5 and 10 per session.

Reputation can also be awarded directly for individual actions. A successful action or scene in the game can result in the GM awarding a certain number of reputation points.

Developing the character

Further development takes place after each game session, enabling the character to be expanded with additional templates, even during an adventure.

Templates are selected in the same way as when creating a character and purchased using reputation. They are then applied. Any changes to values are calculated directly on the character sheet and take effect immediately.

New spells

If a character gains new spell points through character templates, they can immediately use these to learn new spells or choose spell modifications. There is no need to research a thesis in the game for this.

Magic

Your campaign should contain magic? So don't get me wrong, don't confuse magic with divine work or even body modifications. Magic is a strange power, which can be represented quite differently depending on the universe.

In ancient or medieval times, adding magic may make the campaign feel more like a fantasy world. In the modern era, magic may add to a cthulhuid story; in the future, it may lead to a setting like the Seattle of 2052 described in various stories.

The magic extension is independent of eras or other extensions. It can be added at any time to enable magic in the campaign.

Magic level

There is a certain level of magic in the world. This indicates the strength of the magic surrounding the characters. Usually this magic level is 3. Special places may have a different magic level, for example a magic place by an old oak tree in an enchanted forest may have a higher magic level. It is also possible to play in a world where magic has a much higher influence.

The current magic level has an effect on the spell being cast. The spell description will usually give an indication of how the magic level is taken into account.

If the magic level is above 5, the magic cast is completely chaotic and unreliable. The GM decides exactly how a spell is cast. In addition, any spell cast with a magic level of 6 or higher will definitely have side effects.

Basic Attributes

The magic is based on two basic attributes, which characters have and which can be obtained through templates.

Arcana

Arcana reflects the amount of magic the character can combine and store. With Arcana, the character casts spells and performs rituals. Templates, such as "Arcane Tutor" increase the maximum arcana a character can have.

Arcana regenerates through a rest.

Spell Points

Spell points are used to learn spells. Spell points can also be obtained by the character through templates. For example, the "Arcane School" template gives 10 spell points.

Once spell points are spent on a spell, they are used up and cannot be used again. Unlike Arcana, this is not a value that refreshes by resting.

Skills

With the magic extension, each character gains two new skills that they can use to act in the magical world.

Spell Casting

The skill Spell Casting is used to perform spells and rituals. It is composed of the attributes Willpower and Charm and can be increased by templates.

Magic Knowledge

Magic Knowledge is used whenever knowledge of magical occurrences or artifacts is needed. Every character has this skill, which is composed of Education and Conscientiousness.

Learning spells

To learn a spell, a character needs two things: rest (a spell can only be learned between game sessions) and available spell points. In addition, he needs a thesis, a way to also get the knowledge about that spell. The latter is up to the campaign, or the game master.

Spell points are available when the number of Spell points spent is less than the Spell points obtained through templates. Each spell has a certain point cost. To learn it, the spell is noted on the character sheet as learned.

A spell can be learned multiple times. This is possible because spells can be modified by spell templates. For example, you can make an energy lightning spell once as an energy spell and once as a light spell.

Spell values

A spell has different values, which are taken into account in the game.

The spell casting attribute specifies which attribute (along with the spell value) is rolled on to cast the spell. It is shown at the spell.

The value under Arcana describes the cost of the spell when cast. To cast a spell with an arcana value of 2, the player must also have two arcana available and cross off when casting.

The strength of the spell describes how effective the spell is. For newly learned spells, the strength is usually 1, but can be increased by spell templates. In addition, the strength is increased by the successes of the spell casting when the spell is cast.

Each spell has a certain range. This is the maximum distance from the caster at which a spell can be cast. This is not to be confused with a possible area where the spell will work. This is mentioned in the spell description. If the range of a spell is 0, the spell only works at/on the caster himself.

The shape of the spell determines the area of effect. It can be a geometric shape, such as a line or a sphere, or no specific shape. The latter is the case if the spell requires touch or works directly on the caster.

The Actions of a spell indicate how many actions are required to cast the spell.

The Duration of a spell indicates how long the spell lasts. Some spells have an immediate effect, while others take effect over a period of time.

If a spell requires concentration, the caster must concentrate on the spell. While concentrating, the caster cannot cast any other spells. A spell that requires concentration ends when the caster takes damage.

Origin

Spells in Phase Six are assigned to different origins. In order to learn spells, the character must choose a character template that unlocks the corresponding origin.

For instance, the Ranger template enables the character to cast shamanic spells.

The origins of magic are:

- Wizardry
- White Magic
- Black Magic
- Elemental Magic
- Shamanism
- Sanguine Magic
- Necrology
- Mysticism
- Hermeticism
- Necromancy
- Demonology
- Astral Magic
- Lizard Folk Magic
- Chimerology
- Curses

Magic academies usually devote themselves to one or more of the origins and clearly distinguish themselves from others.

Lizard magic is practiced exclusively by the lizard people and despised everywhere else.

Spell templates

Spell templates change the values of a spell, and can also add effects or completely change the behavior of the spell. Spell templates are divided into four categories:

- Basic: basic adjustments to spells.
- Powerful spell (3 spell points): The power of the spell is increased by one.
- Easy to Perform (5 spell points): The spell requires 1 arcana less, but at least 1 arcana.
- Twin spell (5 spell points): The spell affects one additional target. The effect is applied to all targets.
- Long Range (2 spell points): The range of the spell is increased by 20 meters.

- Fast Execution (3 spell points): The spell requires one less action, but at least 1 action.
- Affinity (1 spell point): The element of the spell is changed. This initially has no effect in the game mechanics, but it can turn an acid spell into a fire spell, for example.
- Shape (3 spell points): changes the shape of the spell, for example from a point to a sphere of certain diameter.

Spell templates can be added to any learned spell. To do this, note on the character sheet at the spell that it contains the special template, e.g. "Simple Healing (Powerful Spell)".

Each spell template can also be added to a spell more than once.

Forgetting spells

Just like learning spells, it is possible to forget spells with the necessary peace of mind. To do this, the spell is removed from the character sheet, and the character can be credited again for the spell points used.

Cast a spell

A spell can be cast if the character still has at least the arcana specified with the spell available.

To cast a spell, the player casts on the Spell Casting value specified with the spell. This value is made up of the character's Spell Casting skill and the attribute referred to by the spell.

If the roll achieves at least one success, the spell is successful. For each success achieved, the Power of the spell is now increased by one.

The effect of the spell occurs as indicated in the description. The specified arcana cost is deducted from the character, even if the spell failed.

Luta wants to cast a simple heal. Her Spell Casting value is 2, in the attribute Conscientiousness (which is the attribute of the spell) she has 4. She thus has 6 dice available for casting the spell.

She rolls a result of 3,4,5,5,3,1. Thus, she has achieved 2 successes, which are added to the Power of the spell. She thus heals 3 plus magic level wounds.

Side effects

Magic is unstable, and side effects can occur. Whenever a spell roll shows exactly two ones, side effects occur, regardless of whether the spell succeeds or fails.

- The exact effects on the spell are in the hands of the game master. There can be small deviations from the description, but also a complete reversal.
- Side effects affect magic storages. These have a chance to explode if there are side effects near them. If side effects occur in the immediate vicinity of a magic storage, a d6 is rolled for each arcana stored in the magic storage. The magic store loses one arcana for every 1 that is rolled. The explosion causes 3 hits of 2 wounds each and pierce 1 to all characters within 3 steps for each arcana. Cover and armor apply as usual.

Magic Duel

In some of the following rules, Magical Duel is a rule used. Mages may engage in a magical duel.

If the duel is initiated by a mage, the challenged mage must agree to the duel or it will not occur. There is no effect if a duel is refused. The duel takes place exclusively in the mind, no physical actions are required.

To adopt spells, no consent to a magical duel is required, the test is simply rolled.

To perform a magical duel, both opponents cast on their spellcasting ability. The contestant with the most successes wins the duel. The loser takes the difference in successes direct wounds. Protection and cover do not prevent wounds in this case.

Taking over other people's spells

If a spell is active, it can be taken over by a mage. To do this, a magic duel is performed, whereby the mage casts against the spellcasting value of the mage who performed the spell. If the duel is successful, the spell is now under control of the taker, and can be dropped, for example.

Redirecting spells

Own spells can be redirected as long as they are active. Redirecting a spell requires an action, and a roll on the casting skill. It costs 1 arcana to redirect a spell to another target. The target here must be a valid target for the spell. Thus, a spell with a range of 0 (touch) cannot be redirected to a distant target.

Magic and armor

Wearing armor does not directly hinder the casting of magic. Neither the material of the armor, nor the design of the armor type have any influence on the casting of spells. However, armor that greatly restricts the freedom of movement may cause difficulties in necessary gestures of execution.

Armor of the Heavy Armor type increases the minimum casting roll when casting spells by its encumbrance.

Magic artifacts

In addition to spells, the magic extension brings the possibility of magic items, weapons, armor or weapon modifications. In addition, artifacts can be created by the player.

For example, a Simple Healing Potion restores 1D3 wounds when used.

Creating Artifacts

The character who wants to create an artifact only needs the item into which the spell will be infused. To create an artifact, he performs the spell normally and binds it in the item. While doing this, he also specifies the action that will trigger the spell in the artifact. This can be a complex action or just a spoken word.

After normal execution of the spell, the number of successes determines how strong an artifact is. If the roll is unsuccessful, the creation of the artifact is also unsuccessful. If the roll succeeds, the artifact can be used as many times as the roll shows successes. The cost of creating an artifact is the arcana cost of the spell multiplied by the uses of the artifact. If these exceed the character's maximum arcana points, as many applications are bound into the artifact as the character can pay with his arcana.

Very rarely it can happen that an artifact has an unlimited number of active applications. What quality an artifact has is not determined by the character who creates the artifact, but only by fate itself. No mage can predict how strong an artifact he creates will become.

If a single success of the roll shows at least a value of 30, he has created an infinite artifact.

For an infinite artifact, the number of successes is doubled to determine the cost. If these exceed the character's available arcana, excess costs are covered by wounds.

When the artifact is created, the magic knowledge of the character creating the artifact is recorded in a value called the artifact level. This artifact level indicates how powerful the creator was at the time they created the artifact.

Using artifacts

To use an artifact it is sufficient to perform the described action. If a spell is bound in the item, it will be cast that way, and it will not cost the user any arcana. The effect of the spell occurs as if it had been cast directly by a mage.

To use an artifact, the magic knowledge of the person who wants to use the artifact must be equal to or higher than the artifact level of the artifact. If the user's magic knowledge is lower, he must pass a Spell Casting roll whose successes are at least equal to the difference between his magic knowledge and the artifact level.

Storing arcana

Magic is an element that is not easy to comprehend. But if a being is granted the ability to handle it (i.e., a character possesses arcana), the character can easily store it in all non-magical materials in order to access it again later. But this method is not without danger.

Create a magic storage

To create a magic storage, it is enough to touch the item in which Arcana is to be stored and simply let the power flow into the item. The procedure takes as many hours as the character wants Arcana to flow into the memory and is completely harmless. The arcana is then subtracted from the character's arcana and noted with the storage.

Magic storages, like artifacts, are assigned an artifact level equal to the magic knowledge of the creator.

Using magic storages

A character discharges a storage by touching it and absorbing the stored power. In doing so, he must not exceed his maximum arcana. He does not have to draw the entire arcana stored at once, the power can also be dosed.

A stranger can only use the magic storage if his magic knowledge is equal to or higher than the artifact level of the storage.

Dangers of the storages

Magic storages are unstable, they explode if there is magic instability near them. If a spell fails near a storage, the wearer of the storage casts on his magic knowledge. If he achieves at least as many successes as the memory has Arcana, an explosion is prevented. Otherwise, the storage explodes.

When a storage explodes, it causes twice as many hits within 2D6 meters as Arcana is stored in the storage. The explosion causes a bonus wound and both Burning 1 and Shocked 1.

Pantheon

This extension brings the work of gods into your campaign. Characters are able to invoke Divine action and have a attitude and grace with their deity. There are various forms of invocation which can be performed by a believer.

The rulebook deliberately refrains from using earthly gods or beliefs here, but there are no limits to the imagination. For a cultist, for example, a being from the Cthulhu mythos can also be a deity.

Level of faith

The power of divine activity depends on the level of faith. This is a global value that illustrates the strength of divine activity. In general, it is assumed that the world has a faith level of 3.

However, particular places can change the level of faith. For example, invocations may be stronger in a large cathedral. Areas may perhaps be subject to a curse, or otherwise have a lower faith level. The faith level, if it differs from 3, is set by the game master.

Grace

As a value, grace represents the relationship between services of the priest and favors of the god. The value is 0 at the beginning and can become negative or positive.

The cost of the favors is subtracted from the grace. Grace points can be gained by the priest through godly actions in the game. It depends very much on the type of deity, with which the priest can rise in the deity's favor.

Relics

Relics have a special role in the churches. They strengthen the bond with the god and help the believer to continue on his path.

Common relics are objects from the possession of saints, but also bones of them. But even a simple object related to the deity can be a low level relic, such as a special stone for a diety of stone. The character can get to a relic in many different ways, but it always requires a consecration.

Relics always have a level, which can range from 1 to 6. A level 1 relic can be an object that a saint once touched, for example. A level 6 relic can be a holy weapon or the bones of a saint.

The forms of invocation

There are four forms of invocation to a god. Each of them is performed differently. Each has a different effort and requests a different favor from the deity.

Common to all forms of invocation is the influence of the environment, the priest's condition, as well as faith level of the world. Thus, the following modifications are added to the minimum roll of each invocation (there are invocations that require multiple rolls).

- Grace of the priest: -(grace/2)
- The intention of the character does not correspond to the virtues of the deity: +10
- Ceremonial design (candles, clean cloths, etc.) not present: +5
- The attitude of the priest is contrary to the deity: +15

- The request is not the first request of the day: +2
- Sacrifice is offered: -3
- The priest uses incense: -2
- The invocation is done in Latin: -2
- The invocation is chanted (additional performance check): -5
- The prevailing level of faith: -faith level
- Additional priests at the invocation: -Number
- Relic present: -Level

Shock prayer

The least form of request is the Shock Prayer. In a short, pleading invocation of 3 seconds, the priest can gain a bonus to one of his attributes or skills. The bonus is equal to faith level points and lasts for faith level minutes.

A Shock Prayer requires a single Charm roll.

The Shock Prayer costs the priest 2 grace points.

Blessing

A blessing is able to break a divine curse (the work of a dark god, as indicated by the work in each case), but can also be transferred to an object to create a blessed weapon, holy water, or the like. To cast the blessing takes 5 minutes, and it lasts indefinitely.

A Blessing requires a Willpower and a Charm check.

The blessing costs the priest 5 grace points.

Lesser request

The Lesser Request invokes direct divine action. In it, the abilities of the character's deity and all of its servants that are classified as "minor" can be requested. The prayer for the low petition takes about 15 minutes. It can also be done as part of a ceremonial service.

A charm roll is required for the lesser request.

The grace cost of the favor depends on the request and ranges from 2 to 12 points.

Invocation

The invocation requests a deity's work that is classified as "higher". Again, both the deity of the character and its servants may be invoked. The invocation requires a larger ceremony and lasts at least 30 minutes. It can also be done as part of a ceremonial service.

The invocation requires 2 charm rolls and a willpower roll.

The grace cost of the invocation depends on the request and ranges from 10 to 25 points.

A word about the gods' work. The work of the gods is sometimes described with concrete rules. However, most descriptions remain rather vague. This is to reflect the fact that the nature and works of the gods are their own business. GMs and players should be open to spontaneous developments when a god or demon intervenes in world events.

Consecration

With the consecration, an item such as a weapon is given to a god. The divine power ensures that the item is improved (stats plus about 30-50%), however there is also a chance that the item will be ensouled after the consecration and have some life of its own.

A consecration is a two-hour ceremony during which the deity is invoked three times by means of a charm roll. In addition, a test of strength is required as the item is held for the entire period. Finally, a 50% chance of ensoulment is thrown.

The consecration costs the priest 7 grace points.

Silent prayer

Once per day, the priest may spend one hour in silent devotion to his deity. For this, he rolls a charm roll and adds one grace point for each success.

Ceremonial Service

Ceremonial service is a service to the deity to strengthen their work and spread their word. The service can be both a classical ceremony in memory of the deity and something like a ritual funeral or exorcism. Minor petitions or invocations may be made as part of the ceremonial service, but they do not have to be.

A ceremonial service earns the priest one grace point for each participant, up to the double faith level per service. If a petition or invocation is performed, this cost is deducted again.

Body modifications

The Body Modifications extension allows characters in the game to integrate mechanical components into their bodies. These are artificial elements that can be attached to arms, legs or other limbs.

The body modifications correspond to the time period in which the game is set. For example, a leg implant in the Victorian era will be made of copper or brass, while in the Science Fiction era it will be a futuristic technology.

Character stats

When playing with the Body Modification extension, the character will have additional information on their character sheet.

Biostrain

Each body modification affects the character's biological load. As a character integrates body modifications, their biostrain increases.

Biostrain starts at 0; each character is initially unburdened by body modifications. Each body modification has a biostrain value. This is added to the character's value.

Effects of Biostrain

Biostrain has various effects on the character.

With every healing, whether spell, first aid or healing by a doctor, half of the biostrain (rounded up) is added to the minimum roll of the respective test.

- The character's Endurance drops by 1 point.
- The number of Rest dice for each Rest check drops by 1.

If the Biostrain is greater than 10, the following effects apply:

- The character's Endurance drops by 2 points.
- The number of Rest dice for each Rest check drops by 2.

If the Biostrain is greater than 15, the following effects apply:

- The character's Endurance drops by 3 points.
- The number of Rest dice for each Resting roll drops by 3.

Energy

Body modifications require energy to function. Some body modifications feed energy into the local power grid. However, functional body modifications usually require energy to function.

In order for a character's body modifications to function properly, an energy balance must be created. The sum of the energy points of all built-in body modifications must be 0 or greater for everything to work properly. If the total is less than 0, the Energy Deficiency rule applies.

Energy is measured in milliamperes (mA).

Energy surplus

If more energy is fed into the local grid than is needed, an energy surplus occurs. Normally this is not a problem, but if the energy surplus exceeds 10mA, electrical discharges can occur.

Whenever an activatable body modification is activated and the energy surplus is 10 mA or more, a Resistance roll is made. The minimum roll is increased by the amount of excess energy.

If the roll fails, the character receives a wound and a shocked 1.

Energy deficit

An energy deficit occurs when less energy is fed into the local grid than is needed. This can cause body modifications to stop working. Each time a body modification is activated, a die roll is made according to the energy deficit. For each roll that results in a 1, the modification will not function until the next rest.

The player chooses which modifications will not work.

Slots

Each body has a set number of slots. These slots cannot be changed unless you invest in special body modifications that allow additional slots for specific limbs.

Each body modification specifies how many slots it requires in a particular body region.

For humans, the number of attachment points is as follows

- Head: 3
- Torso: 5
- Arms: 3
- Legs: 3

If a body region is loaded with too many modifications, the biostrain of all modifications is counted twice.

Body modifications

- Price: This is the average purchase price of the body modification at the time of purchase. This price is given in the base unit of the currency used.

- Rarity: The rarity describes how available the body modification is on the market. This can be common, uncommon, rare, legendary or unique.
- Type: Body modifications have a type, common types are Generator, Sensor, Weapon, Prosthetic, Protection or Enhancement.
- Extension: In general, body modifications are available when playing with this extension. However, some body modifications are only available in certain eras.
- Rules: Each body modification can have its own rules, which are described here.
- Biostrain: The biostrain describes the biological strain the modification places on the body. This is added to the character's stats.
- Energy Requirement: Each modification has an energy requirement. If this is negative, the modification produces energy. The character's energy balance must be in balance; no more energy may be consumed than is produced. Energy is measured in mA.
- Charges: Some modifications have charges that are consumed.
- Activation: Some modifications require activation, others are always active. Activatable modifications only consume power when activated.

Activatable and passive modifications

If a modification requires activation, this will be indicated in the description. This modification only consumes energy when it is activated. Activating a modification costs an action.

Passive modifications are always active and consume energy.

Integrating modifications

Integrating modifications into the body requires surgery. Depending on the complexity of the modification, this operation may be complicated or impossible to perform without risk.

The surgeon performing the surgery must make a Medicine roll to successfully perform the modification. The minimum roll for this check is increased by the biostrain of the modification.

Removing modifications

If you wish to remove a body modification, this can only be done by surgery. The surgeon performing the surgery must make a die roll on Medicine to successfully remove the modification. The minimum roll for this check is increased by the biostrain of the modification.

Horror

The Phase Six Horror Expansion adds classic horror elements to the game. Characters can load silver ammunition into their weapons and encounter creatures from the darkest imaginations, as well as obscure items.

In addition, characters now have a potential stress level. If they encounter the non-worldly too intensely, there is a risk that they will lose control or even acquire a permanent quirk.

Stress

The character has a stress level that starts at 0 and a maximum level that they can withstand. This value is set to 10 by default, but can be adjusted using templates or similar methods.

Characters can gain stress when they encounter otherworldly entities or experience other abnormal events. Each creature is listed alongside the amount of stress that encountering it causes. This information consists of two values separated by a slash.

Example: A Spectre causes 1/2 stress when encountered.

When a character encounters a creature that causes stress, they must perform a stress test. If they succeed, they receive as much stress as indicated before the slash. If the roll fails, the value after the slash applies.

If a character encounters multiple creatures at the same time, only one stress test is performed and stress is recorded once per character. However, special situations, such as 100 zombies approaching a character, may require separate stress tests, as determined by the game master.

Base Stress

A newly created character starts with a base stress level of 0, which indicates the amount of stress accumulated during adventures and the extent to which the character's mind has been affected. Base stress has no significance in the game; it simply represents the minimum value below which stress cannot fall.

Base stress can only be reduced in exceptional cases and through therapy. It can increase if a dread is resolved during a rest (see Dread).

If the base stress exceeds the maximum stress level, the character is permanently overcome by dread. This means that the Resolve Dread rule must be taken into account at each rest, and the character will continue to be affected by Dread afterwards.

Stress Test

A stress test is performed whenever it is necessary to assess whether a character can withstand a stressful situation. This involves adding together the character's Logic and Willpower values, after which the corresponding number of dice are rolled. If the roll shows at least one success, the test is passed. The minimum roll corresponds to the character's minimum roll and is usually not altered.

Reducing stress

In order to reduce stress, the character must calm down and avoid encounters with otherworldly beings. This could involve taking a quiet moment or performing an activity within the game. Resting also reduces stress.

There are various ways to reduce stress in the game. What they all have in common is that they take more than an hour.

Some examples are:

- Finding peace/meditation: -1 stress
- Writing in a diary: -1 stress
- Talking to someone: -2 stress
- petting a cat: -2 stress
- Taking certain medications/drugs: -X stress

During rest (see Wounds and Healing), stress is reduced to the minimum possible (base stress or 0)

Dread

When a character's stress level is at its maximum, they are overcome by dread. This is a fixed state, with no different levels. Once a character is overcome by dread, their stress level remains at its maximum.

There is always a spontaneous effect when a character is overcome by dread. This effect lasts for a minimum of one hour and up to D6-Resistance hours. To determine the effect, 3d6 is rolled. The result is listed below:

- 3-4: nausea and dizziness
- 5-8: anxiety
- 9-10: shock
- 11-12: panic
- 13-14: confusion
- 15-16: hallucinations
- 17-18: blindness

In addition to causing stress, creatures may have an ability that directly causes dread.

Resolving dread

Dread usually resolves during rest.

To achieve this, a stress test is performed during rest. If the test is successful, the Consumed by dread condition is removed. If the test fails, the base stress increases by 1 and the character receives a quirk. In any case, the condition is removed.

Dread and further stress

If a character experiences further stress while in a state of dread, their stress level remains unchanged as it is already at its maximum value. Instead, the dice table for the effects of dread is rolled again for each new instance of stress, regardless of how high it is.

The character does not gain a quirk from this. A character can only be in the Consumed by dread state once. This state can only be resolved by resting.

Quirks

A quirk is a permanent trait that a character develops in response to stress and fear. Every quirk has positive and negative aspects. Quirks can only be cured through lengthy therapy outside of the game.

Acquiring quirks

If a character is overcome by dread, the effect is resolved during a rest. This involves rolling a stress test. If the test fails, the character receives one base stress point and a quirk of their choice from the list of quirks.

This quirk is recorded on the character sheet, and its effects take effect immediately in the game. Quirks can have their own rules and can also alter the character's game values.

Healing Quirks

Quirks can only be healed outside of the game. This requires lengthy therapy. This must be done in consultation with the game master, for example when the story takes a break or when the player is playing a different character.

The corresponding quirk is then simply removed.

Irascible

A hot-tempered character is quick to fly off the handle and has a "thin skin". On any occasion that is offensive to the character, the game master can ask for a roll on Logic. If this fails, at least the fists will probably fly.

- * Logic -1

Confused

A character with this trait is easily confused. In busy markets or crowds, the gamemaster may require a roll for Orientation to keep the character from panicking.

- 👉 Orientation -2

Country bumpkin

The character comes from the countryside. Stand and education are not relevant, as soon as the character comes into a larger settlement (from 1000 inhabitants) he is confused. Rolls for orientation in larger settlements have a minimum roll increased by 1.

Addicted

The character is addicted to a certain substance, depending on the degree of addiction, the renunciation or the prospect of soon having to renounce can influence him in his actions.

Naive

Naive: Your character is naive. He sometimes believes too much in the good in people. Whenever the character doubts the statements or intentions of NPCs, the game master can have him roll for logic. If the roll fails, the character believes the NPC.

Aversion

The character has an aversion to a particular subject. All rolls that interact with the subject have a minimum roll increased by 1.

Well equipped

The character may spend a wound to take any item from his backpack, even if he doesn't possess it. To do so, the character takes a wound and the player rolls a d6:

- 1-2: The desired item doesn't exist in the backpack
- 3-5: A similar item could be found in the backpack
- 6: The exact desired item could be found

With a little bit of imagination, anything is possible.

Joker

The character has the ability to profit from special rolls. Everytime the player rolle one of the following dice patterns (while not in combat) the stated effect applies.

- Three of a kind - The character gains one bonus die
- Small Straight - The character gains one boost immediately
- Full House - The character gains one destiny die
- Large Straight - The character rediscovers an item in his backpack (the player chooses an item and adds it to his backpack)
- Four of a kind - The character gains +1 actions in every round of the next combat
- Five of a kind - The characters group gains one additional turn prior to the enemies in the next combat

In each case, the highest pattern to be achieved counts for a roll. So 5, 4, 3, 3, 2, 1 is a large straight, but not three of a kind.

As you know, madness is like gravity...all it takes is a little push.

Shield Mastery

The character is a master of shield use. The shield can be prepared for a shield block in one action instead of two. The shield block can also be performed as a reaction.

Resistance

The character has natural resistance to injury. A D6 is rolled for each wound inflicted. The minimum roll is 5 +

the total number of wounds. Each success prevents one wound.

Blade dance

The character is skilled in two-handed combat with two weapons. The minimum roll for the attack with the secondary weapon is no longer increased by one.

Shield Training

The character learned how to wield a shield effectively in combat.

This allows the character to parry attacks with a shield in accordance with the "Parry melee attacks" rule. For this purpose, either Strength or Deftness is used as a skill value.

Leader

The character may give an action to a fellow character every combat round, instead of using it.

Good friend

The caster makes the victim believe that he is a good friend of his, even one of his best. He willingly tells him everything he would tell his best friend. After the spell is finished, the victim cannot explain why he did it.

The victim of the spell rolls on his willpower. If he achieves successes equal to the power of the spell, the spell has failed and the victim has knowledge of the enchantment attempt.

The friendship lasts for magic level minutes.

The caster can make the victim carry out a command of the caster.

The command transmitted by the caster manifests itself as a "strange idea" in the mind of the controlled. During the duration of the spell, this idea keeps entering the mind of the victim, as long as the victim does not give in to it, and sometimes it can even disturb his concentration on other things.

The caster can make the controlled do things that are not immediately life-threatening to him or go against his innermost principles. For example, a mage cannot be made to burn valuable books, but a paid henchman can be made to betray his master, or a mercenary to change sides in battle.

The spell lasts for power minutes. Once a minute, the victim casts on his willPower. If it achieves less than the power of the spell+magic level, it is convinced of the strange idea and performs it.

Schwarzer Tod

Der Zaubernde rezitiert die folgenden Worte mit klarer, fester Stimme:

"Aus der Tiefe der Schatten, aus dem Schoß des Todes, rufe ich die schwarze Pest. Faul sei das Fleisch, welk sei der Geist, bis die Stille des Grabes dich heimführt!"

Schwarze, geisterhafte Schwaden steigen aus deiner Hand empor und rasen auf das Ziel zu. Das Opfer verspürt sofort eine brennende Kälte in seinen Adern. Innerhalb von Sekunden breiten sich dunkle Flecken auf seiner Haut aus, begleitet von starkem Schwindel und Schwäche.

Falls der Zauber nicht rechtzeitig gebannt oder geheilt wird, verfällt das Ziel innerhalb von Minuten einem tödlichen Fieber.

Der Zauber fügt direkten Schaden zu und ignoriert jeglichen Rüstungswert des Ziels.

Wirft der Zaubernde einen Megakrit zerfällt das Ziel sofort bei Kontakt des Zaubers zu Staub.

Höhere Wesen erleiden durch diesen Zauber nicht den sofortigen Tod. Diese erleiden im Verlauf des Kampfes pro Runde Magieniveau * Stärke Schaden.

Elemental object

The caster focuses on the desired object in his mental eye, reaches into an object from a certain element (it is possible for him to simply slide his hand into the object during the spell) and pulls out the desired object.

The caster pulls an object of his choice from another object. Swords made of ice, drinking vessels made of wood, shields made of rock or water, etc. are possible. There are no limits to the caster's creativity, but he can only pull out one object at a time, which makes the creation of chains, for example, very time-consuming.

The item has its typical properties, plus the elemental component, so a sword made of fire inflicts fire damage on the victim, a sword made of wood receives no damage bonus. Only the caster does not receive this possible elemental damage. A drinking goblet of ice is very pleasant if one likes to enjoy very strongly chilled drinks, but it could freeze to the fingers and or lips of everyone else except the creator.

The spell can be dropped by the caster at any time. If the caster does not return the item to its place of origin when dropping the spell (e.g. does not put the wooden shield back into the tree) he receives a wound on the hand, possibly a few burn or frost blisters and the item dissolves.

Call elemental spirit

The caster places a little of the element whose elemental spirit is to be invoked in a bowl or on a surface of the opposite element. Then he kneels down in front of the bowl and invokes the powers of the element.

After about 30 minutes, the face of an elemental spirit appears in the element used. This can vary greatly depending on the element, so that anything from a face to a non-material appearance is possible. The elemental spirit has no feelings and no alignment, but it can only be controlled by the caster if the latter binds it (Bind Elemental Spirit).

The elemental spirit remains for (power+magic level)*2 minutes.

Aevum

The ritual requires extensive preparation. Thus, the most precise preparation of the hermeticist as well as that of the target person is required.

The hermeticist activates the spell at the very beginning of the ritual. Over the whole time he has to maintain this spell, which devours a considerable amount of magic. Every single day he has to spend two hours of meditation, working on the painting. The painting must be created solely by the Hermeticist.

The target needs no preparation other than the realisation to become fleshless. For this purpose, he should torture himself with all kinds of burning, poisoning and the like to facilitate the completion of the ritual.

At the time of performance, the hermeticist only has to maintain the sphere with his concentration and control the arms. Scenery as well as atmosphere are irrelevant, as in most hermetic acts.

During the time of the creation of the image, the hermeticist binds the spirit and soul of the target person to it. At the time of execution, a sphere of pure magic is created not far from the painting, which mostly floats in the air in a semi-transparent matt white. This sphere forms arms which glide like hoses over the heads of the victims to be provided. With a continuous humming sound, the sphere collects the innards of the victims and then condenses them into the image.

The hermeticist thus creates a firm bond between the spirit and soul of the target person and the painting. The spirit in the painting is able to enter any person in the immediate vicinity of the painting at any time within one second. The target person then lives on in this person until his or her death or an exorcism, and then enters the painting again. It completely dominates the person, feels their feelings and lives completely in them. This process of dominating and regressing only comes to an end once the image is destroyed or the target person has returned to the image four times. After that, he remains in the image.

The created image is itself almost indestructible. It is considered an artefact of the Hermeticist level and requires the same effort to destroy as any other artefact of that level. Only immense magical influence or divine work can destroy the object.

The target can enter the image power+magic level times before being trapped inside.

Even if he addresses someone, he is ignored. If he manages to attract someone's attention, they immediately forget about him as soon as he withdraws from them.

This spell is not a transformation of the caster, but a mass hypnosis. As a result, the caster cannot be detected even by clairvoyance spells like Recognize Life. His aura is just as visible as ever, but no attention is paid to it.

Someone who specifically searches for the caster is entitled to a Perception check in order to discover him nevertheless. If this is done with Power successes, the hypnosis effect falls off the seeker and he can perceive the caster normally again.

The caster must succeed in a test of willpower against the minimum roll magic level2 after the spell to avoid falling into a deep depression.

Call demon

The rules for invoking a demon are as varied as they are controversial. It has been proven that the invocation benefits from the provision of various paraphernalia. There are also some peculiarities in the action that have a positive effect on its success. In general, it can be said that the invocation should take place in a suitable atmosphere and is a direct calling of the demon on the part of the demonologist. So it is also possible to make an invocation without any preparation only with the verse.

The following paraphernalia have an effect on the minimum roll of the Invocation :

- Magic level: -magic level

Bind demonic being

The demonologist has to look into the eyes (if any) of the being he wants to bind and has to face its will.

If the spell succeeds, the demonologist gains control over a demon. If the demon is unbound, the mere casting of the spell is enough to bind it. However, if the demon has already been controlled by another demonologist, it is necessary to first (before casting the spell) perform a magical comparison (comparison roll spell casting) against the controlling caster. If this fails, the demon remains under the dominion of its original master. If the spell fails after a won magic comparison, the demon is no longer subject to any master.

The minimum roll of the spell is modified according to the being to be bound:

- Lower Demon: -2
- Higher Demon: 2
- Servant of an Archdemon: 20
- Arch Demon: 100

The minimum roll is reduced by the magic level.

Pact

Only a few who have made a pact with an archdemon have reported how the pact took place, but some facts are known, the demonologist must make contact through one of the servants. Demonologists have an easier time of it, as they are able to summon them. Other alignments must go to one of the demon's places of worship.

Once a caster has made contact, the demon takes control, usually for this purpose the demon opens a portal into its globe of the demon sphere, only those who can cross this threshold without perishing have any chance of a pact.

What exactly happens in the demon sphere is uncertain, but there are reports of cruel trials that the gifted have to endure, even the strongest usually return broken.

If the pact is successfully concluded, the demonologists return as other beings. Mostly only the appearance reminds of the one who entered the portal.

In any case, the pactors are now subordinates of the demon, disobedience is punished, immediately and from within, it does not matter where the pactor is. The pact binds demon and demonologist across all spheres and ailments.

At the beginning, some particularly powerful demonologists are still able to resist and even assert their own will against the demon, but sooner or later all pactors are subordinate to their master.

With the conclusion of a pact, not only is one's life committed to the demon, but also any existence after death. The demonologist only dies when the demon allows it, otherwise he is merely drawn into the demon sphere to be released again by the demon at will.

It is said that there are demons who withdraw the pact from pactors, which would be the only possibility for a pactor to return to a halfway normal life, but most of them prefer to kill the demonologist or make him a lowly subordinate if he resists.

Drying out

The caster must cast the curse while touching the victim.

The victim loses magic level + 5% of his body fluid every day. By ingesting fluid, he can slow down the effect to 3%, but not completely prevent it. After the cursed person has lost 20% of his body fluid, one can already see the first signs of the deficiency. The skin becomes drier, the first sores appear. At 40%, the cursed is already weakened to the point that all attribute values are halved. From a fluid loss of 70% (now the skin seems to resemble a dry piece of leather) it is hardly possible for the cursed to stand up. Everything around him becomes blurred, and he has no way to take care of himself. Only when all liquid has escaped from the body, the cursed dies. Until that time, the fox keeps him alive.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Bad luck

The caster must speak the curse while touching the victim.

The victim of the curse receives a "bad luck" value equal to the strength of the spell for the duration of the curse.

The victim, after making a roll for their actions, must roll on the "bad luck" value. If the "bad luck" roll shows a success, the action fails.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Shura's madness

The caster must speak the curse while touching the victim.

The victim is immediately seized by panic. The only thought that can be held for the next magic level d6 seconds is "GET AWAY HERE". However, the fear can be shaken off by a test of willpower. The minimum roll of this trial is increased by the strength of the spell.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Curse of the mind

The caster must cast the curse while writing the victim's name on a piece of paper or parchment.

The caster enters a trance-like state in which he bleeds the preferably stunned victim. The curse is transferred to the one whose name is written on the paper and on whom the caster has focused his hatred. After that, the caster falls into a swoon that turns into a restless sleep.

The victim bleeds from all pores as long as the curse lasts. Blood leaks from his eyes and nose, and the victim takes magic level d6 wounds per day.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Fear

The caster must cast the curse while touching the victim.

The victim panics and thinks only of escape for the next magic level d6 minutes. The victim escapes the curse with a successful Courage roll. The minimum roll for this is increased by the spell's power.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Madaeus flu

The caster must speak the curse while touching the victim.

The victim falls ill with Madeus flu the next day. Throat and pharyngeal complaints, in addition to a slight fever and coughing irritations characterize the clinical picture. The victim remains sick until he is either magically cured or at least two other people are naturally infected. The flu is never fatal, but it is perceived as an annoying, unpleasant nuisance. The "contagion rate" is magic level10 % per day of stay in the company of a cursed person.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Aging

The caster must cast the curse while touching the victim.

Shortly after the cursing, the victim starts to feel the first effects. The cursed person feels weakened, which, in addition to the unpleasant feeling, is manifested in the reduction of the values for strength, willpower, reaction, speed and perception by 1.

As long as the curse is active, these values decrease every day by another point. If one of the attributes reaches the value 0, the victim becomes bedridden and can no longer get up by himself.

The curse can be broken by countermagic, divine work or a blessing. Likewise, the curse ends if the caster drops the spell or becomes unconscious.

Appendix - Quirks

Madness and visions

Schizophrenia

The character is exceptionally creative and can find unique solutions to problems that others would never think of. Their different perspective on the world can lead to innovative ideas and artistic forms of expression. They have a strong ability to think logically and perform.

The symptoms of schizophrenia make it difficult for the character to socialise or maintain stable relationships. Their Communication skills and Charm are limited.

- * Logic +1
- * Charm -1
- ➡ Performance +2
- ➡ Communication -2

Delusion

The delusion gives the character a strong sense of purpose and direction. Their unwavering belief in their cause gives them strong inner motivation and determination in certain situations. Their Courage and Willpower are increased.

Delusions can cause a character to become alienated from reality, impairing their ability to act rationally or interact effectively with others. The game master may demand a logic check at any time. If the character fails this check, it means they are experiencing an active delusion at that moment.

- * Logic +1
- * Willpower +1

Impulsive behavior

Depression

Having experienced depression themselves, the character can develop a deep understanding of and compassion for others' suffering.

Depression can prevent the character from performing everyday tasks or participating in social activities. They may withdraw and isolate themselves.

Personal characteristics

Nervousness

The character receives 10 dice for each battle, which they can use as they wish for attacks and defences.

The character cannot score critical hits when attacking.

Fears and aversions

Fear of antiquities

Because of his fear, the character naturally spends more time studying antiquities. He achieves a grade of 4 in this knowledge.

When near ancient artefacts, such as old walls, ruins or statues, as well as documents or books, the character becomes clumsier due to fear. All physical attributes are reduced by one.

- 📖 Ancient Relics +4

Mood swings

Night owl

The character is particularly alert and attentive at night. He receives a +2 bonus to Perception and a +1 bonus to Orientation at night.

The overtired character receives a -2 penalty to Logic and a -1 penalty to Mechanics during the day.

Sensory alterations

Hypersensitivity

The character gains a +2 bonus to their Perception skill.

The character quickly becomes overwhelmed in noisy environments. In these situations, he must pass a stress test. If he fails, he receives one stress.

- 👉 Perception +2

Madness and visions

Dark Visions

The visions can provide the character with valuable clues or warnings that help him avoid danger and uncover hidden truths.

The visions are often disturbing and can take an emotional toll on the character. After each vision, they must take a stress test. If they fail, they receive two stress.

Possession

The character receives a permanent +2 bonus to an attribute of their choice that corresponds to the entity.

Occasionally, the entity can take control of the character and force them to perform unpredictable or dangerous actions. When this happens, the character rolls a D6. The higher the result, the more positive the outcome for the character. Results above 3 are usually positive.

Mystical ticks

Ancient Bloodline

The character can understand and interpret ancient languages and symbols. They receive a bonus of 2 dice on checks related to education, history, and antiquities, provided these are related to ancient writings. The character receives the Antiquities 1 knowledge.

The character feels elitist and becomes increasingly eccentric. He gets a penalty on communication and charm.

- * Charm -1
- ➡ Communication -1
- 📖 Ancient Relics +1

Madness and visions

Doubting mind

The character is immune to manipulation and deception involving a deception roll.

The character has difficulty trusting others due to his constant mistrust. This results in a -2 penalty to his Communication skill.

- ➡ Communication -2

Mystical ticks

Insatiable thirst for knowledge

The character receives bonuses to Logic and Education.

The insatiable thirst for knowledge leads to a negative perception of the character.

- * Logic +1
- * Education +1
- ➡ Perception -1

Ascetic

The character experiences hungry and thirsty later than others, and has increased Resistance.

The character's abstemious lifestyle makes it difficult for them to fit into social groups or form relationships. This results in a penalty in Communication.

- * Resistance +2
- ➡ Communication -2

Clumsy

The character is distinguished by his unique ability to solve problems in unconventional ways. His clumsy nature often leads them to solutions that others would not think of, making them unexpected. He receives a bonus of two dice on checks that require unconventional thinking for this reason.

The character has a reduced Deftness.

- * Deftness -2

Mood swings

Capricious

The character can be very charming and persuasive in social situations. This gives them a bonus to their Charm. The ability to quickly switch between different moods enables them to adapt flexibly to different social dynamics.

During any lengthy or in-depth conversation, the character must make a Communication roll. If they fail, their mood will swing and they will receive a penalty of -2 for the next D6 hours (instead of the bonus).

- * Charm +2
- ➡ Communication +1

Sensory alterations

Tinnitus

The character is immune to acoustic illusions or manipulation due to the constant noise in their ears. Noises from their surroundings cannot distract him.

The minimum roll for all Perception checks involving hearing is increased by 3.

Diurnal

During the day, the minimum roll for all skill rolls is reduced by one.

At night, the minimum roll for all skill rolls is increased by one.

Impulsive behavior

Thoughtless

The character is able to act quickly in dangerous or stressful situations. With the Quick Reaction rule, they can repeat a failed roll once.

Because of his impulsive nature, the character tends to overlook important details and take ill-considered risks. This results in a reduction in Logic.

* Logic -1

Physical characteristics

Frail

Thanks to their less robust stature, the character can move more quietly and inconspicuously. They receive a bonus to Stealth.

The character experiences reduced Strength and a constant sense of physical weakness and insecurity.

* Strength -1

➡ Stealth +2

Personal characteristics

Weak will to live

Because of their indifference, the character has, in a sense, surrendered to their fate. He is given a destiny die.

The character has reduced Resistance.

⚙ Destiny dice +1

* Resistance -2

Impulsive behavior

Restlessness

Thanks to their restlessness, the character can remain active for longer without needing to take a break. Their endurance is increased.

The character finds it difficult to concentrate on tasks that require calmness or patience. Their Deftness and Conscientiousness are reduced.

* Endurance +2

* Deftness -1

* Conscientiousness -1

Mood swings

Unresting

The character is always alert and vigilant. This gives them a bonus to Perception.

Because they are unable to fully relax, the character only regenerates half of the normal amount of stress reduction (rounded up) with each instance of stress reduction. Even when resting, stress is halved instead of being completely eliminated.

➡ Perception +2

Fears and aversions

Faithless

Because they don't believe, the character always strives to find a rational explanation. He is given three rerolls.

All rolls involving supernatural phenomena require a minimum roll that is two points higher. The character's religion skill is reduced.

➡ Religion -3

Personal characteristics

Perfectionism

The character receives two bonus dice and two rerolls due to his perfectionism.

More complex actions taken by this character usually take twice as long as they would for other characters. If speed is important, the game master may require a logic roll. If this roll fails, the specified time is doubled.

⚙ Bonus dice +2

⚙ Rerolls +2

Impulsive behavior

Daredevil

The character's Courage has increased.

The character's Logic is reduced.

* Logic -2

➡ Courage +2

Fears and aversions

Hypochondria

The character is very knowledgeable about medical topics and healthcare due to his constant concern for their health. They receive a bonus on First Aid and Medicine knowledge.

An exaggerated fear of illness can place a heavy strain on the character, impairing their ability to act. Their Logic and Conscientiousness are reduced.

* Logic -1

* Conscientiousness -1

➡ First Aid +2

📖 Medical science +1

Addiction

If the character has access to the things they depend on, they become extremely focused and motivated. During this time, they have two destiny dice.

If the character does not have access to what he depends on, they suffer withdrawal symptoms that impair their physical and mental performance. Their minimum roll increases by one.

Generators

Solar Skin

This specialised skin graft is interwoven with countless micro-receptors that give the flesh a faint, almost metallic shimmer. When exposed to sufficient light, it generates a continuous, low-level current. This trickle of energy is ideal for powering minor augmentations or supplementing a primary power source.

► Must be activated

A colony of microscopic repair automata constantly circulates through the user's body, performing routine cellular maintenance and slowly mending minor damage over time. This provides a steady, passive regeneration that keeps the body in a state of constant repair. Once per day, the entire swarm can be given a priority command, causing them to converge on a major injury for a single, rapid burst of accelerated healing at the cost of depleting their immediate resources.

It automatically heals one wound every three hours. It can be activated once per day to instantly heal 1d3 wounds.

Chemical Analyzer

► Must be activated

A chemical analysis suite is integrated into the user's fingertip or olfactory system. The implant can draw in a microscopic sample of any liquid, solid, or airborne substance and instantly break it down to its core chemical components. This allows the user to identify unknown materials, from complex poisons to rare minerals, with incredible speed and precision.

Grants a 3 dice bonus to Investigation or Nature checks related to identifying substances.

Magnetic Grapples

► Must be activated

Powerful electromagnets are embedded within the user's hands and feet, linked to their internal power source. On command, these devices generate a focused and incredibly strong magnetic field. This allows the user to cling to any ferrous surface with immense force, walking up sheer metal walls or across ceilings as if on level ground.

A fine mesh of conductive filaments runs just beneath the user's skin, creating a personal Faraday cage. This subdermal grid is designed to intercept incoming electrical attacks, instantly channeling the lethal voltage across its surface and harmlessly into the ground. After absorbing a powerful discharge, the entire system must briefly repolarize, readying itself to neutralize the next shock.

It provides three units of shock protection, which are refreshed at the start of the character's combat round. This shock protection only avoids the 'Shocked' condition, not wounds.
